EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

THE betting is already 2 to 1 in favor of Harrison.

THE Democrats have given up all hope of electing Cleveland.

CLEVELAND has written another letter proclaiming for free trade.

HON. ALLEN G. THURMAN is a member of the Episcopal church.

THE British press continues to express the hope that Cleveland will be re-elected.

THE Mills bill is now almost certain to pass the House, but the people will veto it.

PART of Forepaugh's circus was wrecked last week while in Massachusetts.

SHERIDAN is at Nonquitt. He stood the sea voyage well and did not go backward.

THE free trade fallacy, when defeated this year at the polls, will, we hope, be defeated forever.

EDWARD DOUGLASS WHITE is the name of the new United States Senator from Louisiana.

THE greatest victory ever achieved will perch on Republican banners on the 6th of November.

IT begins to look as is Cleveland will not carry any State except Texas, and even there they raise wool!

THE speeches delivered by General Harrison are fine efforts. In every respect he is the superior of his opponent, Mr. Cleveland.

IF the voice of Oregon is a fair example of the voters' sentiments the verdict for Harrison and protection will be almost unanimous.

MR. CLEVELAND was so busy signing vetoes of private pension bills, that he could not find time to attend the soldiers' re-union at Gettysburg.

SENATOR EVARTS will attend the convention of the New York State Republican League, and deliver a speech at their ratification at Saratoga.

A HARRISON and Morton pole, the first of the season, has been erected by the Republicans of McClure, Snyder county. It is painted in the National colors.

BEFORE the Oregon election the Democrats were outspoken in advocacy of free trade. They now say they favor only tariff reduction. It means all the same thing.

JOHN WISE, who went up in a balloon from Orbisonia, Huntingdon county, on the Fourth of July, ascended to a height of 19,000 feet and came down in a forest in Perry county.

IT begins to look as if the eminent temperance apostle Francis Murphy has become temporarily deprived of reason. He has discontinued his temperance work for the sake of advocating the sale of Milk Shake on Sundays in Pittsburg.

THEY accuse Gen. Alger of attempting to buy votes for himself in the Chicago convention. While we don't believe this it is certainly creditable to Republicans that they nominated perhaps the poorest man financially whose name was before the convention. Republican votes cannot be purchased.

THE TARIFF QUESTION.

The policy, or system of government of any country is determined by the ruling powers. Where Kings and Monarchs rule such powers embrace but a limited number of officials. In the United States the final, or determining, power, is the whole people. Never, in our history, have the people been called upon to decide a question of natural polity of such magnitude and importance as the single issue brought before them in the present Presidential contest.

The Tariff is the pivotal question upon which the scales of the election are placed. Protection in the one scale and Free Trade in the other. Which shall be the heavier of the two is left to the judgment of the people.

Now, we know that this matter of the Tariff, while it affects all industries and interests of the country, is the least understood by our citizens of all questions pertaining to the administration of this government. The Tariff, a correct understanding of which involves calculation, figures, statistics, and the general people do not care to bother their minds about any matters requiring close study and logical thought. But, this year they will be compelled to give attention to these subjects, as the stump speakers, on both sides, will make a most thorough discussion of this one question which the President himself has forced to the front and made the issue of the present Presidential contest. It is fortunate for our people, we think, that such has been the case, for they will be brought face to face with the most important problem affecting the stability and welfare of the national government. Free Trade, and Protection, are the watchwords of the contending parties.

In 1879 Congress appointed a Committee to visit the different cities, to hold interviews with leading men of business, and "to inquire into and ascertain the causes of general business depression, especially of labor." This Committee examined, or interviewed but two persons in New York city, Mr. Peter Cooper, and Mr. Geo. W. Dean.

Mr. Dean is still living in New York city. He has been a student all his life of national finance, and has been familiar with all the various tariff systems proposed or adopted by Congress. The result of the conference held with Mr. Dean, by the Committee at the time referred to, proved of great benefit to the Republican party, and to the country.

We present below a short extract from Mr. Dean's remarks to said Committee, together with the statistical table he prepared to sustain his views. He said: "The true cause of every (real) American business panic can be attributed alone to our adverse balances of foreign trade indebtedness, which are caused by our own anti-American tariff laws, having the rates of duties so low as to encourage our people to buy merchandise abroad, in the place of producing the same at home, thereby sending our work and money abroad, instead of retaining both blessings at home. Low duties substitute foreign for American employment and production, for which we are taxed out of existence by other countries, by the means of our own low tariff duties upon foreign importations.

The following are the official statistics of imports and exports and losses for the year and preceding years to each panic which occurred in the years 1837, 1857 and 1873, showing each year's loss to our industries and wealth by low duties, causing adverse balance of trade taxation, and being the only true and sufficient cause for our country's former impoverishment and panics:

Twenty per cent higher duties in the above-named years would have substituted favorable balances of trade by reduced foreign cost for imports, in competition with what we produce to sell, and given our country employment and prosperity in the place of panics, depression of business, labor, distress and poverty.

Now, the foregoing statement is just as applicable at the present time as it was when made to the Committee by Mr. Dean. Our great American interests are always the same—only growing in magnitude,—and require the same protective Tariff laws to insure the largest prosperity to the country.

We trust that the readers of the Republican will make it their especial business to become thoroughly posted upon the question of the Tariff in all its bearings upon our national industries and commerce. The fight of this campaign is to be upon principles, and not men; and if the Republican party does not win it will be a sad comment upon the intelligence of our people.

HIRAM TORREY.

GEN. HARRISON ON PENSIONS.

In the Senate the Republican candidate for president, in speaking of Cleveland's pension veto bills, said:

"Why, it is something like the old rule we had in the army: as long as a man was able, he marched and carried his own gun and knapsack, but when he got hurt or sick, and fell out, we had an ambulance to put him in, and that is the principle embodied in this bill, that we, the survivors of the late war, as long as God gives us strength and health, will march in this column of civil life, making our own living and carrying our own burden; but here is a comrade falling by the way, sickness, casualty--not his own fault—and he has to fall out; we want the great national ambulance to take him up."

LEVI P. MORTON'S GENEROSITY.

During the famine in the West of Ireland in 1880 it was learned that the United States would transport provisions to the starving people if any citizens would pay for the cargo. Mr. Morton, says the New York Press, at once offered to pay one-fourth of the expenses. James Gordon Bennett and William R. Grace paid one-fourth each and the rest was was paid by private persons. His promptness in starting this movement and liberality in the amount of his subscription, unquestionably saved thousands who would otherwise have perished of starvation.

TWENTY years ago women could not vote anywhere. To-day they have full suffrage in Washington and Wyoming Territories; municipal suffrage in Kansas; municipal suffrage (single women and widows) in England, Scotland, Ontario and Nova Scotia. In Croatia, Iceland, Denmark, Tasmania and Madras they also have suffrage. Women have school suffrage in fourteen of the United States: New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kentucky, Indiana, Michigan, Oregon and Wisconsin. In Kansas women are eligible to any municipal office.

EVEN Chairman Mills, the free trader, does not object to a little protection, provided it is placed where there are votes at stake. This was fully proven in the house on Friday, when Mr. Mills accepted an amendment to his tariff bill, striking out a paragraph which proposed to reduce the duty on wood screws. In order to fully understand this action, the fact must be known that the manufacture of wood screws in the United States is virtually monopolized by the only "doubtful" New England State, Connecticut.

ALL FOR ENGLAND.

Mr. Jacob Reese, of Pittsburg a gentleman who is known in this place, for if we remember correctly he was in attendance at the meeting of the Presbyterian Synod here a few years ago, has secured from the Secretary of the Treasury figures regarding the tin plate importations to this country. We copy a few for the benefit of those who would vote the Democratic ticket and thus continue the injustice of keeping tin plate on the free list. In 1862 the total import of tin plate was only 52,388,985 pounds and the revenue collected on a tariff of 10 per cent. ad valorem was $279,935.40. The population being about 33,000,000, gave about one and one-half pounds of tin plate per capita. In 1866 the importation of tin plates was more than doubled and amounted to 113,588,144 pounds, the revenue collected at 25 per cent. ad valorem being $1,541,848.50, and, taking the population at 35,000,000, it gives three and one-fourth pounds per capita. In 1877 the importation was again nearly doubled being 222,307,980 pounds, and the revenue, at 1-1-10 cents per pound, was $2,445,387.70. The population being nearly 47,000,000, amounted to over four and one-half pounds each. In 1887 the importation of tin plate was again more than doubled, being 570,643,389 pounds, and revenue, of 1 cent per pound, was $5,706,433.89, and, taking the population at 60,000,000, we find that we are importing nine and one-half pounds of tin plate per capita, and the importations this year are going on at the rate of ten pounds per capita.

"The total importation of tin-plate from 1862 to 1887 inclusive is 6,557,009,281 pounds, or 3,278,504 tons, and it cost the people of the United States an average of 6 cents per pound, or $393,410,556 86, out of which the Government got a revenue of $73,419,580 22, and we sent to England $320,000,976 64. We imported in 1887 5,570,643,389 pounds, which at 6 cents per pound would be $34,238,203 34; out of this the Government got $5,706,433-89, and the English people took over the sea $28,531,769 45, and I estimate that the English people will take thirty millions of our mopey in 1888 for this plate, which is a half a dollar for every man, woman and child in this country.

If the tin plate had been made in this country the increased passenger traffic arising from the trade would be nearly equal to the freight. So that we may safely assume that free trade on tin plate since 1862 has robbed our railroads of fully $150,000,000.

"Why do not the Knights of Labor take up this important matter? The free trade on tin plate has robbed the workingmen of fully $500,000,000 because, if we had made the 3,478,540 tons of tin plate in this country; had paid the railroad companies $79,349,070; had paid the workmen $255,628,361 the men doing the business would require food and clothing. So that I estimate that the workingmen of this country have been robbed of fully $500,000,000.

"Let the workingmen arise and shake themselves loose from all side issues and with a voice like thunder demand such a tariff on tin plate as will enable it to be manufactured in this country. We use about 6 per cent. of all the tin plate made in the world, and yet do not make a pound.

HARRISON ON THE TARIFF.

In a speech at Indianapolis last year he said:

Many things are made and sold now too cheap, for I hold it to be true that whenever the market price is so low that the man or the woman who makes it cannot get a fair living out of the making of it, it is too low. And I think our workingmen will wake up to the fact that reduction in their wages, which every candid advocate of free trade or revenue reform admits must come with the adoption of his theories—a reduction variously estimated at from 10 to 25 per cent.—is poorly compensated by the cheaper coat he is promised. This bull-in-the-china-shop sort of work that our Democratic friends want to make of the tariff will not do.

GROVER CLEVELAND has done more to advance the cause of free trade than any Prime Minister of England has ever done," says the London Spectator. If such be the case how can any patriotic Irish-American support Cleveland and his free trade notions?

THE CAUSE OF THE LOCAL BOOM.

Some of the Democrats profess to believe that because two iron furnaces have been built here since the Democratic administration, it is therefore an indication that the administration is to be approved and continued in a business point of view. The fact is, these furnaces were planned long before the Democratic administration and had it not been for the 1883 reduction of the tariff, followed by the inauguration of Cleveland, three times that number of furnaces would have been built, and this region would have been in its full flush of prosperity. As it is, the furnaces, despite the management, are not enjoying great prosperity, the wages of the laborers are not as high as they used to be and we have reason to believe that the proprietors, though generally allied to the Democratic party, strongly favor the election of the Republican candidates, because they recognize that their interests will be protected by the restoration of that party.

The fact is that newspapers, aided by a few enterprising business men, have brought about all the prosperity Bellefonte now enjoys. The fact that this town was able and willing to sustain a good daily paper spoke more for it than any mere professions would have amounted to. In return, it proclaimed the advantages of Bellefonte as a manufacturing centre, and we doubt not, that but for the hindering causes which we have enumerated, Bellefonte and vicinity would now be teeming with a population of 50,000 people.

CLEVELAND IN ENGLAND.

Thomas Palmer, an employe of the Howard Rolling Mill, came to this country last fall. Only a short time ago he received a letter from Great Barrington, England, where he formerly resided, informing him that the extensive iron works there, that have been idle during the past three years, intend to resume operations this fall. He says that upon the reception of the news of President Cleveland's re-nomination, a large meeting of the people was organized and bonfires blazed all night. Speeches were made lauding the President's free trade policy. They stated that it would be the beginning of a great revival of the iron business in England, and that the iron works there would be conducted very prosperously.

If there is such rejoicing in English towns over the prospect of free trade in America can it be that there is not wit enough among the citizens of this country to see that the election of Cleveland would be sadly against the interests of America? Let us repeat that it is to the interest of every citizen to vote for Harrison and Morton.

WE are very glad to welcome Pennsylvania Democrats into the Republican fold. They are coming in thousands. But they wont count in the general result, because Pennsylvania is safe anyway. But they are coming into the Republican party in other states. Thaddens B. Wakefield, of New York, a member of the Progressive Labor party, will vote for Harrison and says he knows many other members of his party who will do the same. In Troy, New York, Hon. William Van Alstyne, ex-Mayor; Pierce Kane, manufacturer of knit goods at Sandlake, and brother of ex-Congresseman Kane; Adolph Stude, a well known manufacturer and merchant; O. F. Burtis, senior member of the stove firm of Burtis & Mann, and William E. Hagan are among the prominent citizens who have declared for Harrison and Morton. All are life-long and prominent Democrats except Mr. Hagan. Dr. William H. Whitly, of Patterson, N. J., has resigned his membership with the Democratic organization and declared for Harrison. Albert Tilt, President of the Phoenix Manufacturing company is another convert. In Massachusetts, Ohio and California the same result is announced, and it would require columns of space to give the names and standing of all.

CLEVELAND wrote a letter to the Tammany Fourth of July celebration which was probably intended as the forerunner of his formal letter of acceptance. It pleased the republicans greatly to find that he still stuck to the free trade tariff ideas expressed in his message last December. The dodging which has lately been indulged in by Carlisle, Mills, Henry Watterson and other democrats, had caused the republicans to fear that Cleveland would dodge too.

Our Story Teller.

THE BEAUTIFUL FIEND.

Annie and Belle Ward were the daughters of a wealthy merchant, who died when they were respectively twenty and eighteen years of age. Their mother having previously died, the girls were left alone, but with wealth sufficient to surround themselves with every luxury. Both were the admired of the society in which they moved.

It is difficult to say whether Annie could be pronounced a brunette or a blonde, her skin was so exquisitely fair; while her splendid hair was a shade of the deepest brown, and her glorious, sparkling eyes were of the darkest violet blue. Their normal expression was quiet and subdued; they only flashed up at times, and she was a girl that somehow every color became. In pure white one might have thought her lovely, and lovelier still, perhaps, in black, or blue, or rose, or and other tint or shade.

Belle was a smaller and younger edition of her sister—more girlish and more of a hoyden, with her light tresses, half golden in hue, flowing loose over her shoulders and floating below her waist, imparting intense piquancy to the character of her somewhat irregular but remarkably pretty face.

Pride and a little reserve were rather the predominant style of Annie, the elder and dark-eyed sister; merriment, fun, and rather noisy flirtation were that of Belle, who permitted herself to laugh at times when her sister would barely have smiled, and to say things on which the other would never have ventured.

Soon after their father's death they made the tour of the Continent under the guidance of some elderly relatives; and it was abroad that they met the man who was destined to so deeply influence their future—Harold Paine. He was a young gentleman of fine attainments and polished manners—a gentleman of leisure, also returning from a continental pleasure trip. While stopping at Maurice's Hotel in Paris he was much in the society of the Misses Ward; and so well pleased were they with each other's society that, after their arrival in England he became a frequent and welcome visitor to the young ladies. It naturally followed that people voted him a suitor for the hand of one. But as to which of the attractive pair he favored, none could say. Neither could he say himself. He admired, almost loved both and his preferences pointed decidedly to neither.

Summer came, and the Misses Ward went to their country-seat on the coast of Sussex. Ward House was a pretty, many-gabled, quaint old structure, with massive walls, long overgrown with luxuriant ivy, where the chattering birds awoke the inmates at an early hour, and the dismal bat hid his filmy form from the light of day. Inside was a very maze of rooms and passages, full of ghostly corners, which daylight seemed to shun, old nooks cropping up perpetually in unexpected places to the stranger, recesses with narrow strips of window in the wall.

Soon Harold Paine visited the same watering-place, and was warmly welcomed by Annie and Belle. One day he wandered over the hills with Annie; and when they came to a brook they sat down together on a bank. The position in which the pair was placed, the romantic surroundings, everything conspired to bring about a certain result.—When they started for home, an hour later, Harold had told Annie that he loved her. Was it true? He thought so at the time, and there was no question of her fervent love for him.

The next day Annie received a letter informing her that a very dear young friend and former schoolmate was on her death bed, and that her presence was much desired. The summons admitted of no neglect or delay, and Annie, attended by her maid, started for Nottingham, where her dying friend resided. Death did not take the sick one, however, until two month letter; and during that time Annie remained at her side. Just before her return to Ward House, she received the following letter:

DEAR ANNIE: I scarcely know how to tell what I wish to tell you; but I ask your forgiveness in advance. Two months ago I told you that I loved you, and I thought I was speaking the truth. But since that time I have discovered my mistake. Your sister Belle has won my heart, and we are to be married as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. Again I ask you to forgive the wrong I have done you, and I hope that the lightly spoken words of love between us may not have made too deep an impression upon your heart. I shall always love you as a sister. Belle knows nothing of this, and I beg you not to enlighten her, for I love her too deeply to see her suffer a single pang. Yours truly,

HAROLD PAINE.

When Annie arrived at Ward House she met Harold as if nothing had happened; and at the wedding, which shortly occurred, she showed no sign of disappointment. No one knew what was in her heart.

Years of happiness to Belle and Harold followed, during which Annie lived with them. One summer Harold was obliged to visit Canada on business, which would necessitate an absence of several months. During that time he wrote frequently to his wife, but was surprised to receive no letters in reply. At last one came from Annie, telling him that Belle had eloped, and giving full particulars.

The lie, for such it was, completely prostrated him; and when he recovered from a long fever, he resolved that he would never return to England. And so he informed Annie in a letter.

Then he became a wanderer, and for ten long years sought to drown his sorrows in constant change of scene. But at length he returned to England under an assumed name and inquired for his wife and Annie. Of the former he could learn nothing, but the latter was living in Ward House, Sussex, still unmarried. He went to the house, and was told she was on her deathbed; but, upon his name being mentioned to her, she eagerly demanded to see him. He was shown to her bedside.

"Harold," she said, "I am dying. Do not weep for me, I do not need it. I have something to say to you which I could not die without telling you. You are very much changed since I saw you last; but there is not a pang, not a trace of care in your face which I have caused. Listen to me. I am going to tell you one episode of my life, as no person has ever known it. You remember the day of our engagement. I loved you. My whole nature was bound up in you. I had not a thought, a wish, or a hope apart from you. I was called away to Nottingham, and I loved you and wept for you, cheered only by your promise of happiness in the future. This hope alone made life endurable to me during my brief absence. At last came your letter. It told me of your contemplated marriage. It never could have occurred to me that you would change towards me. Before the letter came, every impulse of my nature was good. I was generous, effectionate and gentle; but from that I changed. I became hardened, heartless, and bitter; I lived only for revenge, which had been unknown to me before. After the first sudden blow, which nearly crushed me my whole nature was roused in pride and indignation at the cruelty of your conduct. I determined that you should never be able to say I grieved for you, or that I cared at all for your marriage. I was not naturally wicked or revengeful, but I became so then, and all I became you made me. Well, you went away to Canada, and left Belle with me. She received several letters from you at first, but afterwards I suppressed them all. Gradually I persuaded her that you were unworthy her tears, and that you had deserted her, and finally that you were dead. Among my guests was a certain Clinton Mowbray. He loved Belle, but she was cold to him for a long time. Between him and myself there was a tacit understanding. I could not place myself in his power by having an explanation in words. I made him understand me sufficiently without compromising myself. I aided him in his suit as much as I could. But, until told that you were dead, Belle was firm for two years; afterwards she married him. When your letter came, inquiring the cause of Belle's silence, I almost cried with joy. It was what I had waited for; and I answered it, telling you a false story of her shame with mad triumph. You shrink from me—from me—your sister! All I am you made me. Under my pillow, when I am dead, you will find your love letters to Belle, which I have read until I know them by heart and which are faded by my tears—tears of anger and hate, not of love; for as much as I loved you once I hate you now. My revenge to its full extent has come at last, though it is on my deathbed!"

She started up wildly and gasped for breath, and then continued, in a broken voice:

"Yes, I have my revenge now. For you know that she loved you, you love her—she is living, you are living—and yet you must live in the world apart, wide apart. Your love for her will eternally separate you, for if you live you blast your whole life and perhaps kill her. You must remain silent for ever and love her, knowing that she is living with and is beloved by another!"

She laughed wildly, half delirious.

"I hate you!" she cried: "you thought you could trifle with my love. Do you think I can hate?"

Broken now more than ever, and yet comforted by the thought that Belle had never disgraced herself, Harold Paine again left England. A year afterwards he read of the death of Clinton Mowbray and then he returned to find Belle in poverty. But her love for him sprang into new life and now they are reunited. And while they remember the crime of Annie, they do not forget the suffering that drove her to it.

WHY BLAINE MEN PREFERRED HARRISON.

Chicago, June 28 (Special).—R. C. Kerens, who is still in Chicago, said to a reporter concerning Monday's nomination: "I am talking from a knowledge of the actual facts in the case when I tell you that there was no time during the convention that we could not have nominated Mr. Blane by a large majority, and no time when we could have honorbly nominated him. That was the whole trouble. Of course we nominated Harrison and in nominating him we gave the party, next to Mr. Blaine, the strongest candidate that it could go into the campaign with."

"What is the reason of the friendship of the Blaine men to Harrison?"

"It is not a recent thing. In the Convention four years ago General Harrison, at a most critical period in the balloting gave Blaine seventeen of the votes of Indiana, and Mr. Blaine's friends have not forgotten that. But that is not all. General Harrisou was the warmest, the most disinterested and loyal friend that Mr Blaine had before the last Convention. He was the man who had the magnanimity, the absolute lack selfishness to propose first to withdraw from the race in Blaine's favor. There were no conditions. There was nothing in it but pure loyalty to the party."

"Then General Harrison would have taken his name from the convention had Blaine's friends requested that it should be done?"

"Yes, he would."

"Would Sherman?"

"No. He would not. Mr. Sherman believed he could force a nomination, and he declared he would fight it out if it took all summer. Well, the result was that General Harrison was nominated and, as I believe, a ticket chosen with which we can carry all the doubtful states. Of course everybody is talking about New York, but as far as New York is concerned I can tell you one thing that is not yet known to half a dozen people, for it has only just been learned, and that is, Mr. Blaine has consented to stump New York from one end to the other for Harrison. Don't you think that is rather apt to bring out the Irish vote about which some people have been doing some foolish talking? Blaine and Chauncey M. Depew will work together through the entire state."

Mr. Morton's Liberal Gift.

Levi P. Morton has announced his intention to give Middlebury, Vt., College $10,000, provided a sufficient additional amount can be raised to enable the trustees to found a professorship of modern languages. At the recent meeting of the Middlebury alumni it was announced that a sufficient sum had been raised, and that Mr. Morton had consented that the professorship of Latin and French should bear his name. Mr. Morton was born about twelve miles from Middlebury in a little story-and-a-half house, which is still standing in Shoreham, just outside that village. His father was a Congregational minister, and was known throughout all that region seventy years ago as "Priest Morton."

Hot Shot.

Frank and impulsive General Sherman's words come out like hot shot. "I think," said he, "there could not be a more powerful ticket than Harrison and Morton. I think that every man who fought for the preservation of this government should vote for these men. They are both Union men; one is a soldier and the other is a statesman—both well tried in their country's service. Harrison, I think, will be as strong as Blaine would have been. Of course, I would rather my brother John had got it, but the Republican party should be the judge and select its own standard-bearer. It is now the duty of every true citizen to stand by these men, who were true to their country when she was in danger. There has never been a true Union man sent to represent this country in foreign lands under this administration, and it is time for a change."

An Indignant Judge.

Judge—You have been convicted of forging a check for $96.

Doomed Man—I hope Your Honor will take into consideration that it is a small amount.

"Just so. I do take that into consideration."

"I'm glad to hear that.

"It is my opinion that the man who forged a check for $96, not having sufficient self respect to make it at least an even $100, deserves no mercy. Ten years at hard labor."

At a Country Hotel.

Guest—I want a room.

Clerk—You can't get one, sir—all full.

Guest—Can I get a bed, then?

Clerk—Haven't got one in the house, sir.

Guest—Got one out of the house?

Clerk—Oh, yes.

Guest—Well, I'll take that. Where is it?

Clerk—Out in the back yard, sir. It's the strawberry bed. Don't roll over on the berries. Good night, sir.

Harrison a Religious Man.

Councillor McPherson was jubilant. He said: "Harrison was my choice after Blaine. It's an excellent nomination. Harrison will appeal to that strong element of our people who want to see men earnest of purpose and religious chosen to high office. I know a Quincy clergyman, Rev. Edmund Muse, a Southern loyalist, who was in the army with Harrison, though not in his command. He says that Harrison was celebrated among the officers in Sherman's army for his earnest religious nature. Harrison had prayers in his tent at night and was a sincere Christian man."

Brown—That's a handsome umbrella you've got there, Robinson. Robinson—Yes. Brown—About what does it cost to carry an umbrella like that? Robinson—Eternal vigilance.

One of Cleueland's Vetoes.

Cleveland misses no opportunity to manifest his antipathy for the veterans and display his ignorance. His latest veto was of the bill to pension the widow of the soldier who lost his life under peculiar circumstances. He was in charge, by command, of a squad of soldiers on a steamboat. A row occurred, and in the performance of his duty he was knocked overboard and drowned. Cleveland vetoed the bill on the ground that the soldier should have kept out of the dispute and saved himself. In other words, served him right. On the same grounds all pensions should be denied because the soldier should have kept out of the fight, or have run away when the battle come on!

The Old Fashioned Victory.

The New York Independent went over to the Clevelandites with the Mugwumps in 1884. Now it says this: "The Republican party is again on solid ground. It has returned to its old traditions. It has given us a ticket which Christian men and men of conviction can heartily support. Those who left the party in 1884 can now return and vote for men as well as principles. There is no excuse for continued alienation. Let us close up our ranks and have an old fashioned Republican victory in November."

Stand from Under.

The coming out for Harrison and Morton of Representative Nichols, of North Carolina, is an event of great importance It forshadows what is to come. Mr Nichols is a great labor leader, and was elected to Congress as the laboring man's candidate, he being Grand Master Workman of the Knights of Labor of his state, and is a candidate for re-election. His prediction that North Carolina will go for Harrison is calculated to give the Clevelandites the chills.

Keep Cool.

Excellent advice, isn't it, for this warm weather?

An authority says that those who pour ice water into stomachs made sensitive by the heat will never be cool. They chill their stomachs for a few moments only to multiply the steam that heats the system and deranges both brain and digestion.

Children should be kept cool by comfortable clothing,—the cheaper the better—and by wholesome food. Unripe fruit and stale vegetables are terribly destructive to children in hot weather and inflame them with fevers which add greatly to the oppression of the heat.

O'DONNELL'S IDEA.

His Libel Suit Against The Times a Trap for Parnell.

THE SCHEME FELL THROUGH

O'Donnell Said to Be a Tool of The Times, Which Is Charged with Double Dealing—O'Donnell's Bad Record. All London Laughs.

[Copyright, 1888.]

LONDON, July 7.—The famous, or what promised to be the famous, trial of O'Donnell's libel suit against The Times has ended, and no glory attaches to either the plaintiff or defendant. None of the expected exposures of the National league were made, and none of the Nationalists hurt in the conflict. Taken all in all, the whole affair was a miserable farce, and an abortive attempt on the part of The Times to make political capital and to inflict a blow upon the league, and especially upon Mr. Parnell. No one who can correctly estimate the trial and its results for a moment doubts now that O'Donnell and The Times were in collusion, and that the action was brought by mutual agreement by the former for the sake of revenge, which feeling was stimulated, without doubt, by Conservative money. By the latter the action was brought that certain admissions might be forced from Mr. Parnell on the witness stand which would tend to hurt the Irish party. There is strong suspicion that O'Donnell himself was the author of the letters produced by The Times, and that he, being impecunious, manufactured them for the benefit of the newspaper and brought the libel action in the same manner. O'Donnell, after he left the league in 1884, became a reporter on various newspapers, and got into bad repute, so that for some time he has borne an unsavory reputation. When he went to Paris he was despised by all the members of the league there, and could not gain an entrance to any of the Fenian circles of France. To obtain his revenge he probably took the course he did. He had in his possession two of Mr. Parnell's letters, the handwriting of which he is thought to have copied more or less successfully. The Times has done little good to the cause it aimed at helping, and now is the laughing stock of the country. The Nationalists have lost none of their dignity, and had Mr. Parnell been called to the witness stand, which place he was all ready to assume, the fraud might have been exposed, and the stigma of double dealing and contemptible practice fixed more surely upon The Times. Mr. Patrick Egan has telegraphed to Mr. Henry Labouchere as follows: "The letter introduced by The Times in the O'Donnell trial, from me to Carey, dated October, 1881, and the letter from Mr. Parnell to me are villainous concoctions."

The Times says: "The verdict of the jury was so clearly in accordance with the principles of justice and the facts presented to the court that it would be inappropriate to treat it as furnishing a special reason for emulation. The conductors of The Times owe a debt of gratitude to the counsel for the defense, especially to Attorney General Webster, for the able and impressive manner in which the case was presented. We commend Chief Justice Coleridge for his observations in regard to O'Donnell's demand in its larger aspect to the notice of those interested in the newspaper libel."

FOREIGN NEWS AND GOSSIP.

Brief Cablegrams of Interest from All Parts of Europe.

BERLIN, July 7.—The Munich Allgemeine Zeitung says: "The report of Drs. Bergmann and Gebhardt on the malady of the late Emperer Frederick may interest the medical profession, but it can have absolutely no political significance, as the allegation that Emperor Frederick could not have reigned if the existence of the cancer had been proved is without legal foundation."

It is reported that the coming interview between the czar and Emperor William will result in the betrothal of Princess Margaret to the czarewitch.

The dowager Empress Victoria has received over 2,000 obituary notices of Emperor Frederick, 800 of which are in English.

Emperor William will meet Emperor Francis Joseph at Vienna in September. The meeting promises to be a brilliant affair.

LONDON, July 7.—A committee was appointed at a mercantile conference, held in Birmingham, to examine and report upon the projected ship canal from Liverpool to Birmingham.

BELGRADE, July 7.—King Milan has abandoned his plans for a divorce from Queen Natalie, and the condition between the king and the queen will be that of separation. The queen will reside abroad until Prince Alexander, the heir to the throne, who is now 12 years of age, attains his majority. The prince will be allowed to visit his mother each year.

DUBLIN, July 6.—Barrister Edmund Leamy, Parnellite candidate for Parliament, has been elected from the district of South Sligo. Mr. Leamy was unopposed.

PARIS, July 7.—The locust plague in Algeria is becoming worse. Sixty thousand laborers and 2,000 soldiers are powerless. The whole country is devastated and it is feared that famine and pestilence will result.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 7.—A number of Libau peasants recently drained Angersky lake and used the lands for farming. The action of landlords in claiming the land has caused serious rioting. Three hundred soldiers have been sent to the scene to restore order.

ROME, July 7.—The pope is preparing an encyclical on the relations between church and state. An encyclical on the school question will be published during the year.

REVIVING THE KENT CASE.

An American Citizen Who is Languishing in an English Jail.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—A report has been made to the house by the committee on foreign relations on the case of John Curtin Kent, who was in June, 1883, arraigned with Thomas Gallagher, Bernard Gallagher and others, in England, on the charge of conspiring to commit murder by the use of dynamite. Kent, who is a naturalized citizen of the United States, was convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

The committee finds that the only testimony produced against John Curtin Kent was to the effect that a letter was found on his person at the time of his arrest from Thomas Gallagher, who was under arrest as a dynamiter. The letter only showed that Kent was Gallagher's acquaintance and physician. Kent says the fact that he was an American citizen was not brought out at the trial, although he appealed to the United States legation at London for interference, and it was denied. The committee believes [illegible] defense was not conducted as it should have been, and expresses deep sympathy.

Letters from the [illegible] Bayard are incorporated [illegible] show that an appeal for Dr. [illegible], one of the prisoners convicted with him, has been made to the minister of foreign affairs, although nothing has come of it. The committee observes that it believes that Kent would have fared differently had his citizenship been properly made known at the trial.

PENNSYLVANIA'S BLUE LAWS.

A Syndicate Formed to Systematically Render Them Obnoxious.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Influential representatives of the druggists, milk and lemonade dealers and fruit stand proprietors, of this city, have effected an organization, the object of which is to make parts of the "blue laws" of 1794 so obnoxious that objectionable parts will be legislated out of existence. A committee of five have employed an ex-city official, who will secure evidence and make information in cases of worldly labor performed on the Sabbath day. Solid financial backing has been secured, and counsel has been retained. Prosecutions will begin next week. Street car companies will probably be the first to answer in the courts. The publishers of newspapers will be called to account through arrest of employes who work on Sunday. The uniformed liverymen who drive their employers to church on Sunday will also be called upon. In fact, prosecutions are to be entered wherever possible to do so, and the new organization hopes to make the public so hostile to the laws of 1794 that an amendment or repeal will follow.

MORE SERIOUS THAN SUPPOSED.

Great Damage Done to Crops and Property by the Storm.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The storms throughout Iowa Wednesday proved much more serious than was at first supposed. Great damage has been done to all the growing grain, many houses have been struck by lightning, railroad tracks are washed away and telegraph communication interfered with. Only one death has been reported. Alvin Cox attempted to cross a freshet with his vehicle near Rock Island, Ills., and was drowned. Many horses and cattle were killed. At Cedar Falls the opera house and a large canning factory were unroofed. Eighteen houses and barns were destroyed between Cedar Falls and Junction City covering an area of a mile and a half. At Waterloo considerable stock was killed by lightning. In Scott county bridges were blown down. Near Martins the Burlington and Northern track was washed out and near Charlotte the Midland tracks are under water. A hail storm in the southern part of Wappello county injured the apple crop.

Heroic Treatment for an Anarchist.

CHICAGO, July 7.—On Cottage Grove avenue on Wednesday evening Adolph Dintz waved a red handkerchief attached to a cane and cried out: "Hurrah for Anarchy!" He was immediately seized by a party of men and carried into Frank Miller's cigar store. He was then bound and gagged, and painted red, white and blue by his captors. His face was painted a deep blue and bespangled with stars; his clothing was painted white, and red streaks were painted on the white background from his head to his feet. He was then liberated. He swore out a warrant on which three of the young men were arrested and fined $1 each. This fine, however, was subsequently "suspended."

The Fourth in Missouri Backwoods.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 7.—Reports just getting here from the back counties indicate that the Fourth of July was celebrated in typical border style. At Marsfield a party of drunken farmers engaged in a free for all fight. There were six of them, and but one is left to tell the tale, the others being dead or badly hurt. At Walnut Grove, Will Merritt and John Claypool got drunk in a livery stable. One bottle of beer was left, and with this Claypool knocked Merritt down under a horse's heels, where he was kicked to death. At Hailville, Dan Mitchell stabbed W. Scott fatally.

A Child Visitor Fatally Burned.

BOSTON, July 7.—Murray, a 3-year-old son of Mr. M. C. Aspinwall, of Troy, N. Y., who has been for some time in charge of his grandparents at the house of Mrs. Hollaway, 22 Aldersey street, Somerville, set fire to his night clothes with matches. Mrs. Hollaway, hearing his screams, ran up stairs and found him enveloped in flame. She threw a blanket around him and extinguished the fire, but not before serious burns on his head, limbs and body had been inflicted. The doctor who was called thinks that the child cannot live. The parents have been sent for.

Railway Men Summarily Dismissed.

CLEVELAND, July 7.—Five passenger conductors on the "Bee line" (Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis) railroad were summarily dismissed, and it is said that at least twenty-six have been discharged during the past ten days. The men themselves do not know the cause of their dismissal, and the railroad officers refuse to talk about the matter. It is stated that Pinkerton detectives and female spotters have been on the lines during the past year and that these removals are the result of their labors.

John L.'s Circus in Trouble.

NORWICH, Conn., July 7.—Nearly all of the athletes and employes of John B. Dorris and John L. Sullivan's circus endeavored to have the circus property attached on account of arrears in salaries. Sheriff Rogers tried to serve the attachment, but was "sent to grass" by John L. Subsequently the proprietors effected an arrangement with their employes, and the show left the city.

Talmage Sued for Damages.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 7.—The Maplewood Park association, of the Minnesota Chautauqua, is preparing to bring suit for $10,000 damages against the Rev. T. De Witt Talmage, of Brooklyn. The association charges that Mr. Talmage agreed to come to Maplewood and assist in opening the assembly on July 3, 4 and 5, and that his failure to keep his engagement has damaged the association to the amount named.

Fire at Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—A fire which started at midnight on Madison avenue, near North avenue, Allegheny City, burned a space of 140 feet long by 120 feet deep. The following business places were burned: J. A. Reitzell's wagon works, Reimbach & Deitz's furniture factory, R. Beiter's brush factory, and C. Sychenbeimer's confectionery store. The structures were all frame. Loss, $50,000, partly insured.

A. E. SMITH, ESQ.,

has been for 49 years road master on the Boston & Maine system and is now residing at Great Falls, N. H. He says trackmen, firemen, engineers and conductors, as well as baggage masters and expressmen, are subject to kidney disease above all others. All, therefore, will be interested in the statement of his experience. "I have used Brown's Sarsaparilla for kidney and liver troubles, and can truly say it has done more for me than all the doctors I ever employed, and I have had occasion to require the services of the best physicians in the State. My wife, also has been greatly benefitted by its use.—A. E. SMITH, Road Master, B. & M. R. R.

The kidneys have been severely taxed all winter as the pores of the skin have been closed, but now that warm weather has come, they need some aid. May be you have that pain across the back; that tired feeling; those drawing down pains. If so you can gain immediate relief by following the example of Mr. Smith and his wife, and use that never failing and grand corrector of the kidneys, liver and blood,

No site has been selected yet but as soon as the location is decided upon work will be commenced.

—I have kept a little tally of individual accessions that have come to my personal knowledge, says the New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Bulletin. This foots up nearly a thousand so far, enough to nearly wipe out Cleveland's majority in the State in the last campaign. In one county—Ulster—where the greater portion of the cement of the country is produced, a couple of thousand of Democratic laborers will oppose the ticket that cuts it down to 10 per cent. duty.

—The boys were playing ball in the court house yard on Friday and someone at our elbow remarked that the entire yard should be paved and thrown open to the public. For our part we like green grass better than pavement. Of course, it is said not to grow well beneath the thick trees, but then one square foot of green grass is better than an acre of pavement. Grass attracts the cows, but the council should wake up the disirability and expediency of putting the bovines in pasture.

—There are ten shoe-peg factories in the United States, employing about 300 hands, having a capital of $175,000. Until recently, shoe-pegs were imported from England. We now export to that as well as almost all other European countries in large quantities. A New Hampshire shoe-peg manufacturing firm that produces 40,000 bushels annually, uses second growth birch, which is considered a quick growing timber. A shoe-peg goes through eighteen different hands or processes before it reaches the market and is placed on sale, and 75 per cent. of cost is for labor. The shoe-peg industry is a growing one.

—We are pleased to hear that a general order has been issued from the headquarters of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company prohibiting the running of Sunday excursion trains on any line which it owns and operates. The only exceptions to this order will be in the case of religious gatherings and then only when the regular trains will not accommodate the crowds. Now let there be no countenance on the part of Christian people of the running of trains for religious gatherings. He who approves of either regular or special trains on Sunday shows that his religions is in the service of the Prince of Darkness rather than of Christianity.

Annual and Six Months' Contracts at Special Rates

SENATOR MORRILL, whose health has not been very good of late, has "paired," and gone to the mountains of his native Vermont, where he will probably remain until December.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GARLAND must have realized on his Pan Electric stock. He has purchased an $18,000 residence in Washington. About next March he will probably be hunting for a purchaser.

CONGRESSMAN RANDALL has no faith in the re-election of President Cleveland. Mr Randall's doubts in this matter are shared by an increasing number of Protection Democrats as the campaign wears on.

CAMPAIGN poles are already being planted all over Indiana in honor of "Harrison and Morton, too," and it is expected that there will be thousands of them in other States before the season is over. This is going to be an old fashioned Tippecanoe campaign.

IN 1882, Gen. Harrison, in a speech, said: "The man who lived through the war of the rebellion and did not make some sacrifice for the success of the Union armies—who did not say one brave word or do one brave thing when with bare and bleeding breasts, our soldiers looked into the face of hell for their country—can never be enshrined as the soldiers' friend."

REPRESENTATIVE REED, of Maine, the republican leader of the House, took it into his head last Friday to have some fun with that alleged statesman, Chairman Mills, and right well did he carry it out. They had a little spat in regard to the recent dodging on the tariff by democrats. Mr. Mills in the most pompous manner stated that he possessed the courage of his convictions everywhere. Mr. Reed replied by quoting several passages from a speech delivered by Mills in Tammany Hall, N. Y., in which the latter had declared in favor of "free men, free labor, and free trade." Mills was completely crushed. He could make no reply. He had fallen into the trap, and the House was cruel enough to laugh.

AMONG the most impracticable and illogical people of whom we have heard, the third party prohibitionists take the entire bakery. Every saloon ever abolished was abolished by Republicans. We have not heard that the Prohibitionists as a party ever affected any true temperance work, and the Democratic party never tried to. Yet these Prohibitionists spend the entire force of their energy and arguments against the Republican party, which has ever been the best and most powerful friend of the cause which they profess to hold dear. It seems to be the nature of humanity to turn against their best friends, this truth being illustrated by the fact that so many people fail to embrace the Christian religion when every incentive of justice and humanity should lead them to do so.

STILL the hosts of Democrats are coming into the Republican party. Orange Noble, of Erie, a life-long Democrat, says: "When parties are arrayed for Protection and for what is practically Free Trade, I must go with the party which espouses the former." The farmers and manufacturers of the Mohawk valley in New York state are up and in arms against the Mills bill. General John M. Knapp, chairman of the New York State executive committee, says he never saw a campaign open so promisingly. In Saratoga county, that state, fifteen Democrats joined the Republican club the first evening. All the New Hampshire Mugwumps have returned to the true fold. In Massachusetts 10 per cent. of last year's Cleveland vote will be given to Harrison. Similar changes are in progress in Indiana and Colorado. Will there be any Democratic party on the 6th of November?

Mr. Chairman: I appeal to the Democracy here to stand true to their colors. (Applause on the Democratic side.) I appeal to them to stand up to the traditions of our party. A tariff for anything else than revenue is outside the tradition principles of our party, and at war with its pledges and history. It is foreign to our platform. We have given our people the assurance of our intention to do this. Let us prove our faith by our works. (Applause on the Democratic side.) Let us engrave upon the imperishable tablets of the law the truth of the doctrine we have proclaimed.—(Mr. Rayner's speech in Tariff Debate.)

This uncompromising declaration in favor of free trade as the cardinal doctrine of the Democratic faith was rapturously applauded by the Democratic members. That tells the whole story. That craven and dishonest party cannot skulk nor shirk the free-trade issue in protection States during this campaign.

Opposed To Free trade.

WILKESBARRE, PA., July 8.—Judge John Hadley, of Lackawana county, has created a decided sensation announcing that he cannot support Cleveland in the coming campaign. The Judge says: "It is no secret that I have declared my inability to follow Mr. Cleveland in his free trade fallacy. He has overstepped the line of Democracy and very many life-long Democrats cannot go with him I am still a Democrat, but it seems to be the veriest folly for any thinking man to take the position that the President has on the tariff question. Protection is absolutely necessary with our sparse population, which could be put into the single State of Texas without crowding it even as much as Germany is crowded. With our vast undeveloped resources, with an immense acreage of public domain unoccupied and unimproved, it is folly to talk free trade. When we shall have reached a population of four or five hundred millions free trade may do no harm. I am with Mr. Randall in this fight. Like all men who conceive themselves men of destiny, Cleveland thinks he can run counter to the genius of the age in which he lives, but in his case the fatal step is taken. I think the Republican ticket will be elected."

What They Say in England.

The London Globe.

As a rule the presidential contest has very little interest for the Old World. On the present occasion, however, an issue is involved which very closely concerns Europe, more particularly Great Britain. Mr. Cleveland has taken his stand on free trade, and although his party managers have considerably planed down his platform, he is universally recognized in the States as pledged to initiate a new departure in fiscal policy. Nor can there be any doubt that he would act up to this understanding were he elected.

The central issue of the contest lies between the maintenance of the present fiscal system intact and its modifications in the direction of free trade. And on that broad question Mr. Cleveland's candidature naturally and necessarily carries English sympathy.

The silly season has begun unusually early. The Mugwump daily microscopes are trying to arouse religious prejudices against the Republican party because Colonel Ingersoll, who is outspoken for the ticket, is notoriously an atheist. This is simply too absurd. Col. Ingersoll's religious opinions are his own affair, and the Republican party has nothing to do with them. If any test of this description is to be made, let it be by showing what proportions of the virtuous and intelligent classes in the community are in the Republican party, and what proportions of the thieves, criminals, paupers and worthless characters generally are in the Democratic party.

"WHILE a dollar may buy more in another country than here, a day's labor which is the crucial test will exchange for more necessaries and comforts of life here than anywhere else. Under free trade this advantage which accrues to labor would disappear, for no more industrial systems with labor in one receiving double the wages of labor in the other, could long exist with free trade between them."—Samuel J. Randall.

"Keep petticoats out of politics," exclaims "The Rochester Union." We judge from this that "The Union" is opposed to Jeff Davis taking the stump for Cleveland.

GATESBURG GLEANINGS.

Harvesting has begun in this vicinity. The grain harvest will be large.

Mrs. Maggie Smith and Della Barto spent Sunday in Gatesburg at the residence of Jos. Myers.

Mr. Martin Gates is talking about remodeling his house, which will help its appearance greatly.

Mr. William Wigton was here from Philipsburg on Saturday, looking after the interests he has here in the ore mines. The firm has one of the best country stores in this place. You don't meet its equal everyday.

Mrs. John E. Rider, who has been laid up for some time with rheumatism, is able to be out again. She was in town on Sunday at children's services.

Mr. George Toner and wife, of Stormstown, spent Sunday in this place.

There will be preaching service in the Lutheran church here on Sunday, the 22d, at 10.30 o'clock a. m.

The carpenters have advanced Chaney & Thompson's barn ready to be shingled. Forty thousand shingles will be required to cover it.

Children's day services were held in the church at this place on Sunday, the 8th. The beauty of the church decorations almost defies description. There were crosses trimmed with evergreen, one placed back of the pulpit, one at the right and the other at the left. Flowers were visible almost everywhere throughout the church. Four canary birds in cages were placed in the windows and the air was tremulous with the music. Singing by the choir began the service, after which Rev. Mr. Warner offered a prayer. A recitation by Anna Masters was the next exercise on the programme. The children's voices were heard in a beautiful song and the school engaged in responsive reading. A recitation by Lizzie Hastings was followed by another song by the choir. Eleanor Myers recited very prettily, J. C. M. Elenberger delivered an address and Misses Birtie and Minnie Hastings and Anna and Leona Gates rendered a dialogue, entitled the pink, lilly and rose. Rev. Warner then delivered an excellent address after which Minnie Hastings sang "Willingly Give," a solo. The thank-offering which was collected amounted to $13.18. It will be donated to the Orphans Home. The church was greatly thronged and the exercises were so enjoyable that they will long be remembered, not only by the children, but also by the older ones. SPRING.

BENORE BRIEFS.

The citizens of this thriving little village will organize a Harrison and Morton campaign club.

The members of the Forest City Cornet Band attended the celebration held at Martha on the Fourth of July. One of them became pretty well Eagleized while visiting in the valley of the famous birds, and he requests me to send his account of the trip in the following words:

On last Wednesday morning, the Fourth of July,
A trip to Bald Eagle we thought we would try.
We harnessed our horses, we harnessed our mules;
We gathered our drummers, our horns and our tools;
And soon were enroute for the Bald Eagle's home—
O'er mountain and valley, our horses in foam.

We arrived in due time, 'neath the shade of the trees;
Were pleasantly greeted and drank at our ease.
The eagle came forth with his wings outspread wide,
The star-spangled-banner unfurled by his side.
Three cheers for that proud bird! was heard the glad cry,
Three cheers for our banner and the Fourth of July!

The orator stood on a beautiful stand
And spoke of the blessings of our fair land;
'Twas the old, old, old story, yet new when they told
Of the deeds of our forefathers generous and bold,
Who came from the green isle, the Thames and the Rhine.
The field and the workshop, the college and mine.

We remained for the day, we partook of ice cream;
Saw the flag proudly float, heard the bald eagle scream.
The day was far spent and the night coming on
When we gathered the boys to return to our home;
And we sang in sweet chorus, o'er mountain and crag,
That beautiful anthem, the "American Flag."

Q.C.

The Fourth passed off very quietly here—no demonstration, no firecracker, and, in consequence thereof, Young America was sadly disappointed. A large twenty-four foot flag, proudly floating from its masthead, one hundred feet from the ground, was the only indication that the ever glorious was present.

We understand that the members of the U. B. Sunday-school will hold a festival at the Scotia school house on Saturday evening, July 14, for the benefit of the Sunday-school.

D.

—On Tuesday afternoon we went into the old Snow Shoe depot building to see Mr. Basset, who is a chemist for the Messrs. Collins, and found that the metalurgical chemistry which is carried on there by Mr. B. and also by Mr. Graham, who was also present, is exceedingly interesting. There the ore and iron are analyzed and tested regularly, which gives the proprietors a constant, certain and sufficient knowledge of the material they are using as well as of that they manufacture. Hence, they can speak with assurance of its merits. The chemicals used are perfectly pure. Mr. Graham showed us two balances which are delicate and exact in a wonderful degree. Mr. Basset heated to a red glow a piece of platinum for us, that metal being the most difficult to melt. It requires thousands of degrees of heat, while ordinary humanity is ready to melt at 100° Farenheit. To students of chemistry this establishment is in the highest degree interesting, while Messrs. Graham and Basset are the soul of courtesy.

A Speech Before the Union League.

The address made by James Milliken, Esq., of this place, to the Union League, of Philadelphia, on the occasion of its ratification meeting, Monday evening, is thus reported by the Philadelphia Press: James Milliken, of Bellefonte, having been introduced, entered into a discussion of the politics of European governments, and said that the history of these show that England, France, Germany, Russia and the Zollverein of Germany have been protective in their policy of government, while those following Free Trade as a principle of government are Spain, Portugal, Italy, Morocco, Egypt and Turkey. Any intelligent observer, he went on, may contrast the one set with the other. England's protective duties, he said, extended from 1798 to 1824, and after 1824 almost ceased to be operative until they were repealed with the repeal of the Corn laws in 1840. Yet protective duties were retained on a number of articles, conspicuously what is known as Liverpool ware. We are asked to adopt Free Trade, the speaker said, for the benefit of foreign commerce to our country. We advocate Protection that we may secure the entire commerce of our own country. Mr. Milliken elaborated by illustration. the amount of raw material which represents $4.33 in a ton of iron of commerce, while labor represents all the balance of a value of $40. He gave illustrations of the disastrous effect of Free Trade tariffs of 1816, 1832, 1846, 1857, and contrasted these with the beneficial effects that followed the Protective tariffs of 1824, 1828, 1842, and 1861. He denounced Free Trade as based upon personal selfishness, and spoke of Protection as the foundation of national prosperity.

—A. C. Rankin, of Pittsburg, a noted temperance worker, says of the Prohibition vote this year: "I find it will have hard work to hold its own in Pennsylvania or anywhere else this year. Benjamin Harrison is so far above criticism that he will poll a marvelous vote in all sections of the country. Usually the Prohibitionists, having a religious constituency, look to that characteristic in their candidate. But in this election they cannot say that General Fisk is a better man than Harrison."

—The amount of lumber sawed on John E. DuBois' mills, at DuBois, for the month ending June 30th is as follows: Pine, 1,667,140; hemlock, 982,155; hardwood, 27,266. Total, 2,676,861 feet. The above figures were given in by Superintendent John Homer, who states that the output was greatly curtailed on account of the great fire. Twenty-two and one-half days was the time and the cut averaged 118,976 feet per day. This is one of the industries which the Mills tariff bill seeks to destroy.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems, at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer to impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he can tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store. Large bottles $1.

THE SHADOW OF DEATH.

Two Citizens of Centre County Pass the Bound of Life and Join the Great Army Beyond.

Mr. Newton Williams was one of the best citizens of Martha Furnace, this county. He was the son of the late Joseph F. Williams, and since his father's decease he had given personal and successful attention to the management of his father's estate. Newton Williams' age was 32 years and 16 days at the time of his death, on the 5th instant.

The young man went to Gettysburg to attend the encampment and there contracted an illness which resulted so speedily in his death. The funeral occurred last Saturday, the 7th. It was held in the Baptist church, of which he was a member. The building was thronged with sympathising friends and four ministers officiated in the services. Rev. James P. Hughes, Principal of the Bellefonte Academy, was assisted by Rev. Bardens, the pastor, and also by Revs. Lanning and Elliott. The deceased had been a pupil at the Academy and was held in especially high regard by Rev. Mr. Hughes, who officiated with the deepest earnestness and feeling.

His death will be mourned by numerous relatives and friends who, knowing him so well, admired his high character and understood his value as a citizen and faithfulness as a friend. A truly useful citizen passed away in the decease of Newton Williams and he has entered upon the rest that remaineth for the children of God.

On Tuesday morning Mr. David Kline, of Julian, died of what must also have been a sudden and severe illness. He, too, had been at Gettysburg, his interest in the camp being greater because he had been a veteran in the Union army. His age was 52 years. An excellent citizen; a courageous man, his end was peace.

Some Foolish People

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will all wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial size free. At all Druggists'.

—The United Brethren congregation will hold a festival on the fair ground, beginning on Friday evening, the 20th instant, and continuing through Saturday afternoon and evening. It is for the benefit of the United Brethren congregation, which finds its necessary to raise money to pay the pastor's salary. The moon will be bright at that time and a festival out doors in the moonlight will be fine. Then the proximity of Collins iron furnace will be an additional attraction.

How He Advertised.

A gentleman, living in a small city in the West, had inherited consumption from his father, and the doctor told him he must die. He stopped taking their weakening physic and tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In three months he was strong and well. The gentleman's neighbors knew how sickly he formerly was, and asked him to state in public how he had been cured. He advertised to lecture on a certain evening, in the public hall, and there was a large audience present. This was his lecture: A picture of himself, before, and one after, he tried the remedy, and five empty bottles of Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He said nothing but convinced his audience just the same.

It outrivals all—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

—The new Catholic church at Greensburg was dedicated on Sunday, Bishop Phelan, of Pittsburg, officiating. Father Otto, of Carrolltown, Cambria county, celebrated Mass, and Father Edward, of St. Vincent's, delivered the sermon. The church cost $23,000 and has a seating capacity of 500. It is built on what is known as Academy Hill, a commanding situation. There were eight priests in attendance at the ceremony.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother also was very low with malarial Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. Am satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr. D. L. Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying: He positively believes he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters.

This great remedy will ward off as well as cure all Malarial Diseases, and for all Kidney, Liver and Stomach Disorders stands unequaled. Price 50c. and $1. at W. C. Keplinger & Co's.

—On Sunday, the first day of this month, twenty-six persons were admitted to full membership in the Methodist church at Oak Grove school house. These were persons who, during a probation period of six months, have lived consistent Christian lives and hence are fitted to be members of God's holy church. The pastor of the congregation is Rev. G. P. Sarvis, who is indefatigable and very successful in his labor.

Dr. Theel, the celebrated Specialist, has yet to find an equal in curing nervous, kidney, blood, skin and special diseases. His superior power of healing is due to his complete practical knowledge of allopathic, homœopathic and eclectic systems of medicine. All persons should consult him personally or by letter at his office, 538 North Fourth St., Philada., Pa.

—A Western paper relates this parable: A revivalist requested all in the congregation who paid their debts to rise. The rising was general. After they had taken their seats, a call was made for those who did not pay their debts, and one solitary individual arose and explained that he was an editor and could not pay because all the rest of the congregation were owing him their subscription to his paper.

FRESH AND BREEZY.

News From the Enterprising Correspondent of this Paper in Snow Shoe.

The picnic held by the Knights of Labor was a success financially, notwithstanding the dull times.

M. P. Bock and daughter, May, of Gorton Heights, drove to Snow Shoe on Saturday.

The familiar face of William Grauer, Esq., was seen in town several days last week.

A protracted meeting will commence at the Fountain school house on Monday evening, July 9, by Rev. J. W. Bedford, of the M. E. church.

Peter Coyle, formerly of this place, and who is now engaged in running a large saw mill at Musser's station, paid Snow Shoe a short visit last Thursday.

Doctor James Neff, of Roland, who has not been a doctor very long, but nevertheless is a very long doctor, paid his Snow Shoe friends a visit last week.

Miss Ida Williams and sister, of Gorton Heights, returned home on Saturday from a visit among friends in Snow Shoe and Williamsport.

Your correspondent had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Barnes, who is connected with the Interior Department at Washington, D. C., and we found him indeed a very pleasant gentleman. He manages to spend a part of the heated term here nearly every season.

Louis Faunuts, a short, thickset, dark Italian, who is said to have occupied a cell in Cooke's Castle for a term of nine months on a previous occasion, was again arrested and brought before Joseph Smith, J. P., on the charge of adultery, preferred by a man from Madera, by the name of A. Bloom, who claims to be the legal husband of the woman with whom the Italian is now living. He was held in $300 bail for his appearance at Court, James Reading becoming his surety.

Theo. Whittaker, who has been sick ever since his folks moved to Bellefonte about three months ago, has returned to Snow Shoe to recuperate his health.

On the dancing platform at the picnic on the Fourth an old lady who had silver threads but nary gold seemed to enjoy the dance very much, and could trip the light fantastic toe and swing the corner fully as well as some of the young ladies who were not one-third as old.

Sammy Y. Lucas, who moved to Bellefonte recently, came out to Snow Shoe Saturday to attend the regular meeting of the Order of American Mechanics, of which he is a prominent member.

A very pleasant ice cream party took place at the residence of Mrs. Roth on Saturday evening, in honor of the birthday of a young lady who is visiting the Roth family.

The glorious Fourth was duly observed at Lucas Hill, although they were all foreigners. They imbibed a little brandy and other spirits and, becoming very patriotic, they indulged in a free fight, women and men all taking a hand at it, and the way the stones and clubs flew was a terror to window glass. Several appeared Thursday morning with black eyes and one woman minus her front teeth. Three have been arrested, and others, who are just as much to blame, will be arrested unless a settlement, mutually satisfactory, is made.

—The funniest thing in town is the mishap of a gentleman whose wife runs the store bill. He has been in the habit of having his cigar bill charged up as potatoes, and the other day his wife took her pencil and began to reckon. She finally found that they had eaten over ten car loads of potatoes the past year, and she could not believe that the account was right. The grocer and the smoker are now between the upper and nether millstones, and it is hard to tell who will be pulverized the finest at the close.

A Suggestion for Tramps.

Dr. Krause the African traveler who failed to get to Timbuctoo last year because he would not pretend to be a Mohammedan, distinguished himself on that journey by making the cheapest trip on record. He set out from Accra on the Gold coast with a capital of exactly $27.50, traveled north to within a short distance of Timbuctoo, and wended his way back to the coast, happy in the fact that he had found a fever plant that kept him in good health after his quinine gave out. He journeyed alone, had no weapon of any sort, begged his way or exchanged medical services for food and shelter, and actually traveled about 2,000 miles, much of it through unknown country. It has been supposed that Africa was a poor place for tramps, but the exploit of Dr. Krause, who, by the way, is a very competent explorer, may be commended to the attention of any of the brotherhood who find the pickings poor at home. Indeed, we advise the tramps to go to Africa, where they will have summer the whole year round, and although they will not find many printing offices there into which they can go to ask for exchanges, the advantages of climate will more than compensate for all other deficiencies.

Carol Victor Stover.

DIED.—On Tuesday, July 3, Carol Victor Stover, aged 3 years, 1 month and 24 days; second son of S. A. Stover and Julia S. Stover.

Just one week ago from sickness sore and suffering severe, Christ, the Good Shepherd came and took into his arms this tender cherished lamb and carried him away in His bosom.

True, indeed, the household seems robbed of its pet, and the joys of the home circle, now so ruthlessly broken, seem gone forever; but yet to these sorrowing Christian parents comes the thought, cheering and comforting, that He, who said: "In my Father's house are many mansions, I go to prepare a place for you," must needs lay up their heart's treasure in His heavenly home. To them with power to heal may these words of one of England's gifted poets be borne:

"Come, then, my God, and take the place
Of these distracting hopes and fears;
Establish this trembling heart with grace,
Dry with thy hand these falling tears,
And teach me to confide in thee
The treasure thou couldst trust with me.

—A perpetual railroad pass is a pretty rare thing to have, but a man living in Attlesborough, on the line of the Boston and Providence Railroad, possesses one of these passes. In 1836, when the Boston and Providence Road was being built, Mr. John C. Dodge conveyed to it a portion of his land, in consideration that he and his family should ride free over the railroad as long as the land was used for railroad purposes. A grandson of Mr. Dodge lately claimed that he was entitled to the privileges named in the deed and that the word family meant "descendants" of the grantor. The railroad company opposed the demand, but the Supreme Court of Massachusetts decided that the railroad must carry free the descendants of Mr. Dodge for all time.

—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the Harrison Shope case was that death was caused by a stab wound with a knife in the hands of Rocco Pessarella, on the afternoon of July 4, 1888, and this is our verdict.

The "Republican" for 25 Cents

The coming campaign is to be one of the most important in the history of the Republican party. For the first time our opponents have thrown off the mask and stand out in their true light as the avowed enemies of Protection to American Industries. Many of them believe, or profess to sincerely believe, that Free Trade will prove to be in the best interest of the country. This campaign, therefore, is to be a battle of principles more than men. It will be a battle in which the humblest as well as the highest will have a deep personal interest; it affects each citizen vitally; the policy of Free Trade or Protection affects the price of labor and the price of every product that is made in our manufacturies or grown on our farms.

The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN will fearlessly and earnestly advocate the principles of the Republican party and Protection to American farmers and mechanics. We feel that it is important that every citizen should educate himself upon this great subject, and the REPUBLICAN will spare no pains to make this important question plain to the humblest citizen. In order that the paper may come within the reach of all we have concluded to make the following low offer which will be less than the cost of the white paper.

We will furnish the REPUBLICAN from now until after the campaign is over and the result announced for

ONLY 25 CENTS.

This should place this paper in the hands of all—even the poorest person in this county. We will give you the best county paper in the State five months for the small sum of 25 cents.

Two Ways, Choose Which?

There are two usual ways of doing what Nature sometimes does incompletely, namely, to relieve the bowels. One is to swallow a drastic purgative which evacuates profusely, abruptly and with pain, the other is to take Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the effect of which is not violent, but sufficiently thorough, and which does not gripe the intestines. If the first is selected, the person employing it need not expect permanent benefit, and he cannot hope to escape the debilitating reaction which leaves the organs as bad or worse off than before. If, on the other hand, he resorts to the Bitters, he can rely upon the restoration of a regular habit of body, consequent upon a renewal of a healthful tone in the intestinal canal. Besides healthfully relaxing the bowels, the Bitters arouses a dormant liver, imparts a beneficial impetus to the action of the kidneys, and counteracts the early twinges of rheumatism, a tendency to gout, and malaria in all its forms.

—In Judge Packer's house at Mauch Chunk, Pa., there is a side-board that cost him $47,000. Within a mile from his house there might be found probably 300 houses, all occupied by the families of workingmen, the total cost of which was less than that of this single article of furniture.

This is not brag.

It is a plain statement of an honest fact.

Ordinarily the weekly issue of a daily paper is esteemed to be merely a digest of the week's news, suited alone for rural readers.

This is not true in reference to the WEEKLY PRESS.

It is especially edited by a trained corps of writers selected for the purpose of making the best paper.

It is adapted to the improvement and enjoyment of both sexes, of all ages, of every family, whether a resident of the city, village or country.

It is an old paper and carries its age and reputation equally well.

Dr Chase's Third, Last and Complete Receipt Book and Household Physician, or the Book for the Million, contains nearly 900 pages and sells for $2 25 in cloth binding and $2.50 in imported oil cloth, marble edge, and is justly by him called

'THE CROWNING WORK OF MY LIFE.'

It is the result of over half a century's observation, study and experience. Yet this embodies no compilation of his former books, IT IS WHOLLY A NEW BOOK. If 30 years ago he could produce a book that has had a sale of over fifteen hundred housand copies, and has made his name familiar in nearly every English-speaking home in the United States, Canada, and South America, what KIND of a book could or would he produce as his Crowning Life Work, WITH MORE THAN THIRTY YEARS OF ADDITIONAL PRACTICE AND EXPERIENCE? The book itself answers the question, and is the most valuable production in the history of book publishing.

The Book is published in both English and German.

A DYNAMITE PLOT

Brotherhood Engineers Arrested at Chicago.

THEY HAD LOADED BOMBS.

What Were They Going to Do with Them?—Unraveling the Plot—Chairman Hoge Denies All Knowledge.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Thomas Broderick and J. A. Bowles, two engineers formerly in the employ of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, and a man named Wilson, were arrested on a train at Aurora with a valise containing dynamite cartridges in their possession.

The officials of the company for some time past have had intimations that an attempt would be made to destroy the property along the line of the road, and several men have been under police surveillance without being aware of it. The arrest of Broderick, Bowles and Wilson was the first step taken by the company to expose the conspiracy, and other arrests are likely to follow.

The dynamite cartridges in the possession of the prisoners were ten inches long, an inch and a quarter square and contained a pound or more of dynamite. Broderick had in his pockets a number of fulminating caps. The men were taken before United States Commissioner Hayne, and, after being held in $5,000 bonds for examination on the 13th instant, were committed to jail.

Broderick and Bowles are members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. They sent for Chairman Hoge of the strikers' grievance committee soon after their arrest. Mr. Hoge at first denied knowing either of the men, but afterward promised that if they had an honorable defense the Brotherhood would retain counsel for them.

Chairman Hoge said of the men: "Broderick I know slightly; he is a member of the Brotherhood, but he never worked a day for the 'Q' road in his life. As well as I remember, he is employed on the Illinois Central, somewhere in Mississippi. Bowles worked as a 'scab' for the 'Q' road thirteen days, but quit on the advice of his brother, who is a member of the order and who induced this man to join. The third man, Wilson, I don't remember ever to have seen before.

"Broderick and Bowles have been drifting around here on and off, but I don't remember to have spoken a dozen words to either of them for some weeks."

"Did they say anything about the charge preferred against them?"

"No, and I did not care to ask them. I did hear it said, however, that Broderick denied all knowledge of the parcel which the policeman claims to have been his and which is said to contain dynamite, or something of that kind. Both Broderick and Bowles also claim that the third man is an entire stranger to them, and that his sitting in the same seat with them was purely accidental."

"Has any suggestion ever been made to you about using dynamite as an argument against the 'Q' system?"

"No, sir, and if it had the man who proposed such a thing would have been sat down upon squarely, I assure you. Chief Arthur and myself have done all in our power to restrain the tendency to violence on the part of the radical element in the brotherhood. If we had given our consent we could have tied up all the railroads in the United States when the Burlington trouble began, but we refused to do so."

"Can you give any opinion of the merits of the case?"

"Well, hardly, and until I learn more I am not going to express an opinion either way except as far as the brotherhood is concerned. This much I say most emphatically: If these men have been guilty of any wrong doing, it is not by the sanction or with the knowledge of the order, and all attempts to drag the order into the scrape because two of its members have been arrested are malicious."

Another arrest was made in connection with the alleged attempt to injure the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy property by the use of explosives.

As John C. Baueriesen, chief engineer of Division 32 of the Burlington road, was arising from his couch at Aurora, he was met by Deputy United States Marshal Burchard, who at once made him his prisoner. The charge against him is the same as that preferred against the three men previously arrested.

HE SMELLS A LARGE RAT.

A Burlington Employe Suspects an Arrested Man as a Detective.

CHICAGO, July 7.—An ex-Burlington employe, discussing the arrest of men charged with conspiring to blow up the Burlington property, said: "That chap Bowles is a pretty good actor, but I got 'onto' him. You hear me, if he ain't a Pinkerton operative I'm making a big mistake. How do I know? Why, he's arrested with the party, of course; he's been shadowing 'em and had to be pinched with them to avoid suspicion. You bet he's been working right with 'em and tipped off all they have done and their programme. When the 'pinch' comes he's the indignant one. He talks 'outrage' and all that; he makes a bluff that he don't know these men, and he cries because he has to be locked up. I noticed Hoge wasn't any too kind to him, and I shouldn't be surprised if he smelled the same rat I did. Now keep track of the case and see if I haven't 'called the turn' this time."

District Attorney Ewing and Chester M. Dawes were seen by a reporter after the proceedings before Commissioner Hayne, but neither would add anything to the facts already known.

Bank Robbers at Hopkinton.

HOPKINTON, R. I., July 7.—The First National bank was entered by burglars and an old fireproof safe broken open. It contained papers of no use to the robbers. The money and securities were in a Herring fire and burglar proof, which was not attacked. Cashier Richmond found the outside door damaged but not open, and the burglar proof inside had not been touched. This is the second time the safe has been attacked and the bank saved from loss solely because it had in use a good and trustworthy safe.

Suspicions Set at Rest.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Deputy Coroner Herold held an autopsy on the remains of Samuel E. Henderson, of Cleveland, O., whose death in room 142 of the Astor house was surrounded with suspicious circumstances. The result showed inflammation of the stomach, and the coroner said that the man's death was undoubtedly caused by carbolic acid taken with suicidal intent.

Boston's New Chief.

BOSTON, July 7.—The board of police appointed Capt. Benjamin P. Eldridge of Division 6 temporary chief inspector, vice Hanscom, dismissed. Capt. Eldridge has had many years' experience on the state force and has shown marked ability as a detective.

CINCINNATI'S BEER WAR.

The Union Gives Up the Fight and Members Apply for Work.

CINCINNATI, July 7.—Brewers' union No. 12 decided to declare its strike off. The relief fund had become so low that the strikers who had remained true to the union only received $1.50 each last week. Between 200 and 300 members, forced by dire necessity, have applied for work in pool breweries. To prevent the union from going to pieces it was resolved to reinstate these men, though they had been suspended for deserting the cause.

The union had attempted in every way to break the pool, but did not succeed further than to establish the Banner brewery, as they found the opposition too strong. The fight against pool beer by the Central Labor union will be continued at a public meeting to be held at Lincoln park, with speeches by well known labor leaders.

Death of the First Union Volunteer.

XENIA, Ohio, July 7.—Dr. Leigh McClurg died here on Wednesday, aged 53. When only a boy, in company with P. B. Plumb, now senator from Kansas, he went to Kansas through Iowa with a party that carried arms to aid the Freesoilers. McClurg was one of the seven who were captured by the Pro-Slavery party and placed in the Lecompton jail under sentence of death, but who were afterwards released. At the beginning of the war he was the first man to volunteer to fight for the north, and his name occupies that position of honor on the rolls. He was recently physician to the soldiers and sailors' home.

A Chance for Mayor Hewitt.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 7.—The state convention of the American party adjourned sine die after selecting the following persons as delegates at large to the national convention: E. D. Wigginton, Frank M. Pixley, Victor J. Robertson and Alfred Daggett. A resolution was adopted pledging the support of the American party of California to Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, if he will accept the nomination for the office of president. The platform adopted was the same as that adopted two years ago by the same party.

FOUR CIRCUS CARS WRECKED.

Several of Forepaugh's Employes and Horses Seriously Hurt.

FALL RIVER, Mass., July 7.—At 2 a. m. four cars of the rear section of Forepaugh's circus transportation train, bound for New port, were wrecked south of the dark tunnel, under Central street, in this city. The third car of the section was derailed and the three following cars were piled on top of it. Three men were in the third car, of whom Frank Fagan, of New Britain, Conn., and John Wood, of Boston, were injured, the latter seriously.

They were cut out of the ruins and taken to Wilbur's hotel. The third man, Thomas Williams, of New York, escaped by hanging to the top of the car. Dandy, a trick horse, was killed, a stallion and a racing mare were so badly hurt that they had to be shot. The wreck was cleared away by 7 o'clock and the company went on. Two cars were ruined and abandoned.

Thieves Raid a Village.

HURON, Wis., July 7.—Sheriff Campbell has received word that thieves had raided the village of Star Prairie, a town fifteen miles from this place. They broke into all the stores and blew open every safe in the town. After finishing their work they stole a horse and carriage belonging to a resident and made their escape. They secured considerable plunder.

Jesuits Suspended.

OTTAWA, July 7.—Bishop Lafleche, of Three Rivers, Quebec, has suspended the the Jesuits from religious ministrations in his diocese. The step is taken on account of Jesuits having in a number of instances influenced dying Catholics to change their wills in favor of the Jesuits.

ALL SORTS OF SPORTING NEWS.

The St. Louis Browns and the New Yorks have not been shut out this season.

Burdock has signed an ironclad agreement not to drink intoxicating liquors.

There are four Canadian born pitchers in the International association—Sheppard, Wood, Jones, Reardon.

Welch has won nine games and lost nine, with one tie. Keefe has won thirteen and lost six, with two ties.

It is probable that Hennessy and McCoy will sign articles for a glove fight as soon as the former's battle with the unknown is settled.

Bubear, the English oarsman, has again challenged Wallace Ross. He offers Ross $125 expenses to go to England and row him in ten weeks for $2,000 and the championship of England.

Tommy Burns, Baltimore's great left fielder, said the other day that the Association pennant lay between St. Louis and the Athletics, with the chances in favor of the former winning it. "The Browns have the pitchers and they have taken a good start. The Athletics are the hardest hitters in the Association and are pretty well equipped as to pitchers. Had Elmer Smith been at his best this season the Cincinnatis would have won the pennant hands down. To my mind he was the greatest pitcher in the Association last year."

The attendance at twenty-seven home games on the Boston grounds was 136,000, divided substantially as follows: Philadelphia, 23,000; Indianapolis, 22,000; Pittsburg, 16,000; Detroit, 22,500; Chicago, 32,500; New York, 11,600; Washington, 8,500.

It is a peculiar coincidence that the last four games between New York and Detroit were won by New York with a score of four runs. The Detroit score was two in the first and one each in the last three games.

In the south baseball directors do not get anything for their work; in fact, they have to pay about $500 a season for the pleasure.

Jimmy Galvin laughed at a decision of Umpire Lynch's in the game with Indianapolis and was fined $10 just for the fun of the thing.

E. C. Holske met Ike Weir at Boston prepared to match Frank Murphy against him, but the negotiations were unsatisfactory, Weir persisting in telling what he could and would do, and doing nothing. Finally Holske bet Weir $20 that he didn't dare make a match with Murphy, and Weir sneaked off. Holske's $20 was deposited with a Herald representative and will be paid to the Spider when he signs articles. Murphy declares that he will take no further notice of Weir's talk, but is ready to arrange a match for $2,000 or more a side on the terms of the agreement signed Tuesday, excepting that the fight must be eight weeks off instead of six.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not contraindications multiply and Consumption, Lung, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave ills are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, produce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is especially efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

FROM WASHINGTON

News Notes Gathered at the National Capital.

ADJOURNMENT IN SIGHT.

Warm Weather Wilts the Statesmen. Prospects of the Tariff Bill—Republicans Discuss It—Pension Bills Signed.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The continued spell of hot weather is making the statesmen wilt, and talk of adjournment is now heard more frequently than ever. The long session of congress tends to keep most of the subordinates in the departments at their desks during the hot weather.

PROSPECTS OF THE MILLS BILL.

There has been no formal understanding as to the limit of debate on the tariff bill, but it is generally understood by both Republicans and Democrats that the bill will be put to a final vote by Aug. 1 at least, and be sent to the senate. Representative McKinley says the passage of the tariff bill in the house is a foregone conclusion. He thinks it will pass within two weeks. Mr. Breckinridge is of like opinion, though he thinks the wool clause will excite a sharp debate, as will that relating to pottery. He believes, as does Mr. McKinley, that the Republicans will permit the bill to go to the senate. He thinks congress will adjourn about the middle of August.

REPUBLICANS DISCUSS THE TARIFF.

Senators Aldrich and Allison, of the senate tariff sub-committee, and several other members of congress prominent in tariff affairs, met at Senator Hiscock's rooms in the Arlington hotel and discussed the action that should be taken by the Republican majority of the senate finance committee when the Mills bill comes over to the senate. Afterwards, Senator Aldrich said that no bill had yet been formulated by the Republicans, but that one would undoubtedly be agreed upon and reported very soon after the Mills bill was referred to the committee. It would, he said, be framed on the line of the Chicago platform, and would be such a measure as the whole party could agree upon.

PENSION BILLS SIGNED.

The president has approved the acts granting pensions to Johanna Eckhardt, Marquis D. Davis, Johanna Barry, Thomas Benson, Elias Shafer, Samuel E. Wyman, Anna M. Thiele, Ada Leota and Jessie Piatt, Robert McClean, Augustus Axmacher, Charles H. Ordway, Mary L. Cleveland, James McCaffrey, Chloe Frailey, Lucius B. Varney, Eliza A. Shaver, Isabella F. Dyke, Robert Lisle, John H. Rountree, William P. Gordon, Frederick Raff, John R. Styles, H. P. Alexander, Adelaide L. Jessup, Mary Monti, Martha B. Perry, James H. Orr and James W. Harriman.

ROUTINE IN THE HOUSE.

The house conferees on the agricultural bill have been directed to insist upon their disagreement to the amendment providing for sorghum sugar experiments.

The land grant forfeiture bill was called up and passed. Yeas, 177; nays, 8.

The house went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill and the reading progressed rapidly, motions by the Republicans to strike out many paragraphs being rejected generally without division.

BOND OFFERINGS.

Registered 4s, $150,000 at 127¾ to 127¼; Registered 4½s, $287,000 at 107¼ to 107⅝. Total, $437,000.

A Chicago Politician's Libel Suit.

CHICAGO, July 7.—The recent charges and counter charges of general bribery and corruption in connection with several measures pending before the city council were revived when Eugene A. Sittig sued Alderman George K. Dix for $30,000 damages. Alderman Rix had claimed in interviews which appeared in the local papers that Sittig had approached him with an offer of $5,000 worth of stock of a certain elevated railway company to vote for an ordinance which affected that company.

Footpads in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 7.—It has just leaked out that while Fred F. Sherman and three friends were driving on Grand Boulevard, near Humboldt park, Wednesday evening, they were stopped by five highwaymen, who dragged them from their carriages and demanded their money. They resisted stoutly, and the robbers were finally frightened away by approaching assistance. One of the thieves tore a $350 diamond from Mr. Sherman's shirt front.

Could Fight as Well as Pray.

FORT SMITH, Ark., July 7.—During a prayer meeting on Sunday at the house of William Randall, in the Cherokee Nation's territory, a white man and an Indian entered the house and began shooting at the assemblage. On Tuesday the two returned and attempted to shoot Joseph White and Thomas Foster, who had been at the prayer meeting when the white man was shot dead.

BRIEF MENTION.

The proposed new bridge over the Hudson, at New York, is to have a landing in the central part of the city, near Fourteenth street. It will be the largest in the world its central span being 2,850 feet, and will cost $16,000,000.

Experts who have been examining the books of the Second National bank of Jersey City have discovered evidences of a long standing plot. Van Loan, the ledger clerk, is said to have been the tool of his father-in-law, N. H. Coykendall, a grocer, and W. H. Luker, a butcher. The latter have been arrested.

Singer, Nimick & Co., of Pittsburg, are endeavoring to run their ironworks without signing the Amalgamated association's scale. The firm claims to be making satisfactory progress. Several other companies have signed the scale.

A dynamite plot has been unearthed in Chicago whose possibilities of destruction would rival the Haymarket massacre. Three men have been arrested with the explosive in their possession, and under circumstances which warrant the charge against them of conspiring to destroy the property of the Burlington road.

The Prohibitionists are preparing a monster ratification meeting, to be held in Chicago July 13. Geo. Fisk, candidate for president, and John A. Brooks, candidate for vice president, are expected to be present and make addresses.

Abraham Tour died at Ashburnham, Mass., aged 9. He was the oldest living representative of the Massachusetts legislature and of the graduates of Dartmouth. He was also one of the oldest Freemasons in the country.

A QUIET DAY.

The People Have Opportunity to Indulge in Mid-Summer Laziness.

THE CORNET BAND'S SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL.

People who are easily awakened say that there was a great deal of noise in town on the night preceding and the morning of the Fourth of July. The firing of a cannon in Diamond Square so rattled the buildings that the glass in one of the windows of Graham & Son's shoe store was broken and also the glass above the door. It is said the the shock broke glass in windows a great distance away.

The morning was quiet save for the desultory firing of the cracker and the noise made by the small boys. The Cornet Band boys decorated the court house yard with Chinese lanterns and flags and served sandwiches, cake and ice cream. The Howard band arrived during the morning, it being the only outside organization that honored the town with its presence. At 1 o'clock there was a very pretty parade, in which the Band, in new and handsome uniforms, their visitors, the Howard band, and the Undine Hose Company in white shirts and black trousers, took part. They looked very attractive, and marched through the principal parts of the town.

The number of people in town was small, although Spring creek was lined for quite a distance with those who waited there to see the tub race. Three boys—two white and one colored,—after long delay, started in the race. The only one who pretended to race fairly was a son of Policeman Garis. So it was tried over again in a similar burlesque manner. Jim Delige, the colored boy, got the lemon, but as Garis was the only one who rowed in his tub or tried to get the lemon by fair means, he was given the first prize.

While the tub race was in progress an artist took a view of the scene and it will appear in the forthcoming number of Judge as an illustration of the United States navy out on Fourth of July dress parade.

In the evening there was a sack race in the Diamond. It would have attracted greater attention had not an altercation between two spectators diverted the attention of the crowd. While people were talking about the affair de honneur the word was given and the three colored contestants jumped away much like frogs, if we could imagine a frog race. They say that Calvin Miller won the race and the prize. Bright young young ladies circulated through the crowd and solicited ten cents for cakes and other attractions of the festival. The populace surrounded the refreshment tables. All went as merrily as a National Independence day ought to go. The celebration concluded with several fine displays of fireworks.

In the evening the throng of people in town was much larger that it had been during the day. The demonstration of patriotism was continued all the evening and until quite late at night. The receipts from the festival were about $170, of which $125 will be clear. The band feel very much pleased at the result.

Gleaned at Gatesburg.

The jigs will soon be completed at the mines of R. B. Wigton & Son. They expect to be ready to wash ore by the 15th of this month.

Mr. Blair Gates and wife took an early start to Boalsburg on Sunday to spend the day with the latter's mother.

Do not forget Children's day exercises next Sunday in the church here. The services will begin at half-past one o'clock. Come one and all and be well entertained.

The base ball club of this place, comprised largely of boys 16 years old, played the Marengo club, most of whom are young men, on Saturday last. The game resulted in favor of the Gatesburg club 23 to 8. Our boys deserve credit for their skill in handling the ball and bat.

I. C. M. Ellenberger and Calvin Weston are at home on their vacation from State College.

Mr. William Hastings has been at his home sick for a few days but is getting better. SPRING.

He Got the Prize.

Willie Stephens, of Pittsburg, is not only an industrious scholar, but an entirely ambitious one, and when the other day he set his mind on capturing the highest mark in the Barkersville Academy he meant to be successful in the undertaking. The great barrier to his ambition was his fellow-student, Juliet Bennett, who was also in the race for knowledge with William. When the marks were announced, it was found that she had beaten him by-one-tenth of one per cent. Now William was resolved that a little obstacle like that should not stand in his way, so he got a marriage license, hired a minister and married Juliet immediately after the conclusion of the commencement exercises. The girl had the highest mark, but he has the girl, and by the simplest law of logic he is consequently the possessor of both.

—The last contract has been awarded for the contemplated improvement to the State College, in this county, to the Cottage planing mill, of Huntingdon. The total cost of the improvements now contracted for and under way will foot up some $80,000, and the work will not be completed until some time next year.

Heralds from Houserville.

Quite a number of the farmers have purchased self-binders. They are the Champions, which seem to be trump this year.

We recently had the pleasure of meeting Miss Lena B. Hess, a fair resident of Scotia

Last Sabbath was Children's day in the Evangelical church of Lemont.

We are pleased to note the return of Miss Sadie Hollabaugh, of Milesburg.

Mr. G. S. Keller has employed another man in his woolen factory in the person of Mr. H. Hoy.

Our fruit agent has become quite popular with the young ladies. He is seen on the streets of Lemont with no less than three of them.

Misses Verdie Bathgate and Gertie Kinkead are of on a visit to Philipsburg and Clearfield. Wish them a pleasant visit and a safe return.

The superintendent of the Houserville Sunday-school offers fifteen cents to find how many schools in Centre county teach the words. "Box, cat, dog, rat."

Anyone wanting to borrow a valise should call on Irvin Wirtz, as he loans them and brings them home himself.

Very good singing in Houserville. Mrs. Dale leads it on the organ which she knows how to manipulate perfectly.

Not quite such late hours at the White House, Dick.

We notice Dr. Wasson, of Spruce Creek, in our town. The Doctor looks quite natural.

Dan will make a good squire.

David Houser and wife, of this place, have been called to the bedside of the former's sick sister, Mrs. B. F. Holter, who is quite ill at Howard.

Julia is all right, Hermon.

Newt, where were you so late Sunday morning? You can't blame the hounds for that. UGLY JOE.

All Found in a Ton of Coal.

A careful estimate by a chemist of the contents or constituents of a ton of coal presents some interesting facts, not familiar certainly to unscientific minds. It is found that, besides gas, a ton of coal will yield 1,500 pounds of coke, twenty gallons of ammonia water and 140 pounds of coal tar. Now, destructive distillation of this amountof coal tar gives about seventy pounds of pitch, seventeen pounds of creosote, fourteen pounds of heavy oils, about nine and a half pounds of naptha yellow, six and one-third pounds of napthaline, four and three-fourths pounds napthol, two and a fourth pounds of alizarine, two and a fourth pounds of solvent naptha, one and a fifth pounds of aniline, seventy-nine hundredths of a pound of toludine, forty-six hundredths of a pound of anthracine, and nine-tenths of a pound of tolucene—from the last named substance being obtained the new product, saccharine, said to be 230 times as sweet as the best cane sugar.

Their Visit to Lock Haven.

The celebration of the Fourth of July in Lock Haven was in every way worthy the occasion. The crowd of people was almost unprecedented in size. The buildings and dwellings were very elaborately decorated. The parade was a grand one. The fireworks, while not equal to the display here on the night of the Republican ratification, were exceedingly creditable.

The members of Company B, N. G. of P. bring back pleasant memories of their courteous treatment. They were taken in charge by Company H, of the Twelfth regiment, and were given the right of line in the parade. Conducted to the company's armory, they were given the full priviliges enjoyed by their entertainers, and were served with an elegant dinner. They pronounce Company H an honor to the Twelfth regiment and to the National Guard. We are sure our home company will be glad to return the compliment if given an opportunity.

Meet at Lake Conneaut.

The regimental commanders, as well as the commanders of the independent companies of the Second brigade, will meet at Lake Conneaut to-morrow, where they will view the ground and locate positions for the various commands to occupy during the encampment to be held next month. In the absence of Colonel Theo. Burchfield, who finds it impossible to be present, Major J. F. Mickle, of Bedford, will represent the Fifth regiment. The Second brigade has camped at Lake Conneaut before.

—The reports from Philipsburg are to the effect that a very enjoyable time was had there on Wednesday. The lively town was filled with people, and tested the accommodations of the hotels to their greatest capacity. The parade was very beautiful and was more than a mile long. Among the pleasing exercises of the day was a bicycle race in which more than fifty contestants took part. No disturbances marred the day's enjoyment.

—A young gentleman who is pretty well fitted to judge of such things told us on Thursday that while in Lock Haven on Wednesday he looked especially to see if he could notice any pretty girls. He saw only four. He is sure that one of them was a Bellefonte lady visiting there. We expect that the others were also Bellefonters.

An Attractive and Hospitable Home.

About three miles westward of Lock Haven, on the left bank of the Susquehanna river, may be seen one of the most picturesque places in Clinton county.

Here is the beautiful stone residence of Isaac A. Packer. The house was built in 1885 and hence has all the necessary improvements. Mr. Packer was his own architect and the result shows the best possible taste. It is one of those houses which, although it contains no unnecessary and expensive arrangements, yet abounds in all that true comfort can require. The trimmings are of red brick, giving the building a rich appearance at a distace.

Back of the house are the farm buildings which are also complete. There is not one lacking.

Mr. Packer's live stock is of a very excellent quality, and the broad fields of grain and tobacco are sufficient evidence of his ability as an agriculturist.

His hospitality is so well and widely known that it has become proverbial, and to appreciate it fully you must be placed in the hands of his kind and accomplished daughters and noble son.

Your correspondent only regrets that he could not have continued his visit for a much longer period of time.

Wanted—a Capable Man.

The borough council expect a visit soon from some members of the Board of Underwriters to learn what their desires are in regard to the improvement of the fire service of Bellefonte. It is understood that all they demand is the appointment of a fire marshal. During the recent meeting of council the plan was discussed of appointing a man to the dual position of fire marshal and policeman, to act as a policeman on ordinary occasions and as marshal in the event of a fire. The greatest difficulty in this arrangement would be to find the proper man. The incumbent of such a responsible position must be an individual who would be acceptable to all the fire companies and at the same time trustworthy and capable as a policeman. But we cannot throw any more light on the subject, as an entirely new plan may be adopted. While we know the borough is not in financial condition to be at great expense, we believe the citizens will sustain the council in any action they may take to improve either the fire or police service of the town.

—The issue of the Evening Herald of Erie, on June 27, was as elegant as any issue of a newspaper that we have ever seen. It was published at the time of the editorial excursion to that city and in honor of that event. It is full of illustrations of Erie's growth and greatness, printed on very fine paper and is in every respect perfect. Among the portraits of distinguished citizens we notice that of Major William Walker Tyson, commander of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home at Erie. In a brief sketch of him it says that he enlisted in Company A, 45th Pennsylvania Volunteers, while visiting in this place. The editor in chief of the Evening Herald is Nelson Baldwin, who deserves congratulations on the result achieved.

—On Thursday we heard two young lovers discuss the Penn cave. They were strangers in this community and had visited it and were in raptures over it. "I met a Bellefonte gentleman," she said, "who told me that he had lived here twelve years and had seen the cave once. Oh, if I lived here I should go to see it every month." "Yes," he said, "and it would be so nice to visit it in winter." "Yes, nicer than in summer," she answered, "it would be so warm inside. But one would freeze almost to death going there!" This young couple might be more surprised to know that there are hundreds of people who have lived all their lives in this vicinity without once seeing the cave.

—On the subject of the location of the proposed new passenger station building and the obstruction of travel by the cars at the High street crossing, a committee of council, consisting of Geo. L. Potter and Ed. Brown, to which have been added a committee of citizens—J. W. Gephart, L. L. Brown and P. G. Meek—will proceed to Philadelphia to make the circumstances known to the officials of the railroad company. We have no doubt that the railroad company will be pleased to so plan the propsed change as to afford the least possible inconvenience to their Bellefonte patrons.

—In its moral tone the New York Mail and Express is truly admirable, and we are pleased with its present political action. It was decidely in favor of Gresham for the nomination, but is now most actively supporting Harrison. The Mail and Express impresses us as a paper determined to meet the demand made upon it for all the news of the day while it will publish nothing which is hurtful. As such it can be received with entire freedom into every family. It is printed in large plain type and looks as well if not better than any of its contemporaries. We wish the Mail and Express a career of prosperity.

—The Street Commissioner has been working on the alley leading from Allegheny street east past Mr. George Valentine's residence. The work he has been doing is to drain into Allegheny street the water which often proves quite troublesome there in the event of heavy rains.

—No town of the size of Bellefonte can boast of two better hotels than the Bush House and Brockerhoff House of this place. This is the universal verdict of all who come here and when they pay their bills they are surprised that the charges are so moderate. Several experienced travelers have spoken to us of this fact with great pleasure. They are first surprised at the comfort and elegance which they see and then at the fact that the charges are less than they are accustomed to. It is certainly a subject of congratulation that the large hotels are doing so much to impress strangers favorably with the town. While they are doing this they give every evidence of being prosperous themselves.

—It may have been noticed that Gov. Cleveland is not with the veterans at Gettysburg. In fact he doesn't seem to take an interest in Grand Army gatherings either. His most pleasing occupation appears to be vetoing pension bills. As a rule young men of his age and physical ability when the war was raging joined the army. He didn't. He did the least he could and sent a substitute. Continuing to do the least he could, he failed to settle up with the substitute. At least so said the substitute to the day of his death in the poor house.

—An attachment has been granted against the property of James North, R. Milton Speer, David Barrick, Caleb C. North and K. Allen Lovell, bankers at Huntingdon, under the name of the Union Bank of Huntingdon, in a suit brought by the Huntingdon Manufacturing Company to recover a balance of $2,835, which was placed on deposit with the bank last February as a special account, and has not been repaid, although demand for it has been made.

A Resolution.

CHICAGO, JULY 4, (Special)—Congressman Boutelle's resolution for virtue and sobriety, the purity of the home, temperance and morality will find a unanimous support throughout the country.

It is against lying, stealing, adultery, murder, and drunkenness. Judge Gresham has announced himself as heartily for the ticket and its platform.

—Some time this summer (we forget the date) the district attorneys of the State are to hold a convention at Cresson. The object of their convention will be to dicuss the questions relating to their special labor and to improve the methods of prosecution where it is practicable to do so. District Attorney Meyer is pleased with the idea and now wonders why such a convention was not held long ago.

—Last week Mrs. Robert Holmes, of Marion township, visited her daughter, Mrs. William Montgomery, of Howard township. Mrs. Holmes is in the 85th year of her age and is the mother of eight children and has seven great-grandchildren. She is unusually active, both physically and mentally, for a person of her advanced age.

THEY DID IT.

What? Cured among others the following. They write:

Bellefonte Republican,

EDWARD T. TUTEN, - - Editor

Local Department.

—The fine weather continues.

—Prognosticators say the heat will increase.

—Last week was a glorious one for harvest.

—There is too much pleasure-riding on Sunday.

—Francis Murphy will be in Renovo on Friday next.

—The music of the German band loses none of its sweetness with age.

—Altoona is the next place of meeting for the State Teachers Association.

—Mr John Woodring, foreman of the construction train, is moving to Tyrone.

—Hon. James G. Blaine is expected to arrive in New York on the 27th of this month.

—The people of Westport, Clinton county, have erected a Harrison and Morton pole.

—Persons who take flowers from graves or enclosures in the cemetery can be fined $10.

—A new patent pavement is being put down in front of the McClain block, next to the REPUBLICAN office.

—The State Encampment of the Y. M. C. A. begins on the 17th instant on an island two miles fram Millersburg in the Susquehanna river.

—A recently published book on etiquette says: "Endeavor to select your guests with a sense of fitness." This is, do not invite a fat man to eat a slim dinner.

—The man who went through the country eating glass lamp chimneys and goblets is ill with gastritis in the Bellevue Hospital, New York. The diet proved too much for him.

—Mr Harry E. Bonsall, recently the editor and proprietor of the Tyrone Times, has retired from that position,and Mr. C. Nissley, of Humnellstown, Dauphin county takes his place.

—The death of Mr. Mark Brown occurred at his home in Milesburg, on Friday, the 6th inst. His age was 50 years, 5 months and 26 days, he having been born on the 10th of January, 1838.

—Miss Bella Rankin gave a very enjoyable entertainment on Tuesday evening at her parents home here, to about forty of her friends. The refreshments served were of the choicest description and the occasion was one of much enjoyment.

—James Houck, Benton Mylon, and Samuel Dearmitt, all of Saulsburg, Huntingdon county, have been arrested and held in $500 bail each for burglarizing J. N. Stewart's distillery, in that county. Houck is an ex-Constable and Justice of the Peace.

—Up until a short time ago the Pennsylvania Railroad Company carried such articles as baby carriages, etc., free. A new order has been issued now, however, and in the future the owners of these things will have to pay for their transportation.

—The Lock Haven Daily Democrat recently recorded the departure from that place to Bellefonte of J. M. Foreny. We have inquired For-eny person of that name in town and cannot learn any more about him. Please give us some information on the subject.

—Mr. W. B. Maitland was so unfortunate on Tuesday as to have his left hand quite badly wounded by a sledge hammer in the hands of an assistant who struck while he held the bar. Dr. Hoy gave the injured member the necessary surgical attention and we hope it will heal rapidly.

—An improvement and convenience which is urgently needed is an entrance to Union Cemetery from the southern side. It is unjust to compell people from that part of the town to walk all the way round to Howard street. The improvement would not be a difficult one to make and there is no excuse for delay.

—Mr. Wm. B. Rankin and his daughter, Miss Lillie, and Mrs. Charles F. Cook are in Clearfield this week attending the wedding of Miss Alma Reed to a Mr. Bradshaw, of New York State. The bride will be pleasantly remembered as the young lady who taught during one year as assistant principal of the High school here. The wedding occurred on Wednesday.

—Finley, a little son of Archibald Taylor, of Industry, Beaver county, was struck by a train on the P. McK. & Y. Railroad, Saturday evening, and injured so severely that death resulted soon afterwards. The boy was playing with fire-crackers and did not notice the approaching train, but stepped directly in front of the engine when it was too late to draw back.

—J. Q. A. Daniels writes us a letter from Tyrone, first ordering the REPUBLICAN for the campaign and then saying that he would like to be back again in Bellefonte to take a hand in electing the Republican ticket. He has plenty of work in Tyrone and will remain there for the present. Where he boards, he says, there are four Centre county Republicans, all solid for Harrison and Morton.

THE WICKED CITY.

SUPERBLY DECORATED.

Democratic Delegate Elections and the Johnson Trial—Characters and Scenes.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., July 7, 1888.

The 4th of July, 1888, is now numbered with the past and our citizens, having reduced their surplus patriotism, are ready for the substantial business of life. It was generally remarked, by everyone spoken to on the subject, that no known place or habitation was ever as tastefully decorated as was our rising city on the late anniversary of our independence. Our people are not only intelligently active, but industriously enterprising in all their undertakings. The feeding of six thousand people, giving them perfect protection whilst enjoying the festivities of the day and night, would have taxed the ability of a much larger city, but our people fed and protected these thousands of visitors with the ease and grace born of natural abilities to command, please and entertain. No rowdying,no crowding, no jangling, no clashing, but on went the dance as merry as the marriage bell, the only semblance of unpleasantness occurring when the wicked editor of the wickedest free trade paper on earth attempted to convince Protectionist John G. Love of the error of his political ways.

Col. Wm. Hays became a little confused about his own identity, politically, but Col. Kress came to his rescue and explained to him how a Democrat, couldn't be a colored man and how a colored man couldn't be a Democrat which satisfied the good-natured Colonel, who is a candidate for legislative honors.

T. T. Abrams, one of the oldest and best attorneys of the Clinton county bar, was chuck full of Fourth of July patriotism and appeared to enjoy the day we celebrate finely.

Faraway Moses remarked to Col. Eckert that if a tariff was a good thing, he ought to get a piece of it and apply it to his Thanksgiving pumpkins, as it might cause them to grow a little longer.

Gen. R. R. Bridgens, seated in an open barouch, with the American flag floating from the bow and stern of the craft, drawn by four spanking bay horses, reviewed the entire decorations of the city as well as the parade.

Mayor Barker, the tallest man in or out of seven states, guarded the lives of visitors, by having his forces stationed at crossings whilst he himself took charge of two. Chief Westbrook having been wounded in a hand-to-hand scrimage the day before, was not on hand, but was in the hospital for repairs.

The Irvin House received and entertained over four hundred guests, which caused the late delegate to the St. Louis convention and our prospective postmaster to expatiate on the beauties of the ebullition theory of patriotism.

POLITICAL BOILINGS.

The political pot has commenced to simmer and the scum is rising to the top, but when it boils the scum will be thrown off, and, it is hoped, the element purified.

The Democratic delegate elections will be held on Saturday, August 25th, and sixteen days later the new trial of John W. Johnson will commence. Many of us are pleased with that arrangement as it is thought it will have the effect of eliminating all politics from the case and produce a clear acquittal of a person known to be innocent by every member of our bar.

The inner bosses of both political parties have agreed to give Hon. C. A. Mayer a free walk over in the judicial race, whilst the rank and file of the parties have not independent manhood sufficient to overrule them.

JOHN U. SHAFFER

of the Renovo Record, is a candidate for the nomination to the legislature, and is trying to keep his fences in good repair around the Democratic pasture field. The Court House ring say they will give him trouble and have brought out a Mr. McNane, of "fair complexion fame," Mr. Myers and Col. Hays to go around and break down Mr. Shaffer's fences. Of course, the last three being influential fellows, will pool their strength, if necessary, and make one grand charge, and then—

What is most needed here just now is an independent journal with honest convictions strong enough to voice the correct sentiments of the people on all important subjects pertaining to the general welfare of the masses. Our clay works will soon be in operation which will add one more to our industries, making the fifth establishment, outside of lumber mills and factories, to furnish employment to our surplus labor; and we hope that it will not be long until we take rank in manufacturing with any other city in Central Pennsylvania.

M. A. C.

—Saturday's issue of the Lock Haven Democrat discourseth thusly: "This afternoon Mr. Francis Speer, local scribe of the Keystone Gazette in Bellefonte, left for home, after what he says was a most pleasant week's visit. He is greatly pleased with Lock Haven and particularly impressed with our business thrift and improvements. There is hardly a street or corner in the city that he didn't visit,saying that he wasn't going home without knowing something about Lock Haven. In this respect he differs from many who come here, stay for dayf or weeks and see or know nothing. Mr. S. also complimented our young ladies as being beautiful and stylish. Come again, young fellow."

How About the Insurance Losses?

MR. EDITOR:—Whenever an insurance company suffers a loss and pays promptly, a card is inserted in the papers parading the fact that in that particular case it has shown common honesty. But the fact that this is done, is the best possible proof that such honesty is exceptional and not the rule among insurance companies. Six weeks have now elapsed since the fire on May 28th, when Humes' block was destroyed and a number of our citizens suffered an honest loss which there can be no possible excuse for not paying by the companies disposed to deal fairly with the public. I understand there is more or less quibbling, however, even in this instance. Would it not be a matter of great public interest, and justify the trouble, if you were to see each of the sufferers by the fire and secure from them answers to a series of questions like the following, and then publish these answers?

What was your loss?

Were you insured? In what companies? and for how much?

Has the loss been adjusted and at what figures?

Did the companies exclude anything or make any deductions against your protest? If so what was deducted or excluded?

Have the companies paid yet? and if not what is the excuse for not paying?

This is a matter of great public interest; and if carried out, it will benefit the business public amazingly by letting them know just what companies to insure in and what to let alone. I believe if this course were pursued by the local press throughout the country, it would take but a short time before the "snide" and "shyster" companies would all be driven out of the communities where an honest insurance business is to be done.

Insurance companies are the first to rush into print to parade their common honesty. Won't you give us a little glimpse now of their general and average method of doing business, by interviewing the sufferers by the 28th of May fire? I feel assured, none of your patrons will complain about the space being wasted which will be taken up by the report. Let the public know what companies are disposed in a case like this to take mean and technical advantages or to delay payment, so that we may "boycott" all such companies. I am not a sufferer by this loss, but one interested in knowing these facts to protect myself in the future as I am a property owner and largely

INSURED.

Bishop Merrill in the Methodist Church.

Rev. Bishop Stephen Merrill, D. D., LL. D., who preached twice in the Methodist church here on Sunday, is a handsome gentleman. He is large, tall and erect in figure. His features are strong, intellectual and clear cut. His face is without any adornment of whiskers or mustache and he looks the better for it.

The text for his morning sermon was from the Acts, 10th chapter and 44th verse—"While Peter yet spake these words, the Holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the words."

The sermon was plain and practical. It was couched in the simplest language and proclaimed the most ordinary truths, but with a force and power seldom evinced. He described the condition of the early church,composed of the crudest material. The members were as weak and faulty by nature and life as ourselves. They did not realize the full revelation as we have been accustomed to it. The disciples even were men with human frailties—inspired so far as their mission required it, but no further.

This sermon of Peter was a memorable one—his opening of the door to the Gentile world. The speaker described the process which led to the destruction of Peter's preconceived opinions thatthe Gospel was only for the Hebrew world. Then he spoke of congregations and that they are largely responsible for the effect of the preaching on them. They fail too often because of lack of faith in them that receive the Word. In this instance every hearer was converted.

The Telephone.

It seems remarkably strange to read the following from the Daily Democrat, of Renovo:

"What Renovo has needed a long time is a telephone, which we shall now have in a short time. One of our merchants is making arrangements to have it placed in his store, and the agent will be here in a few days to complete the arrangements. This will be a great convenience to our people who may wish to communicate with some persons in the towns east of here. The line will connect Renovo and Lock Haven."

Involuntarily we looked at the paper to see if it was not twenty years old. No, it was last Friday. It seems marvelous that at this late day there is a civilized community into which the telephone has not been introduced. Here it has been, for nearly a score of years, almost indispensible, and to be without it would seem like a revival of our grandfather's days.

—Mock Brown, of Roland, died of dropsical consumption last week. The funeral occurred on Sunday, the interment being made in Curtin cemetery.

HARRISON SHOPE'S DEATH.

A Correct Account of the Recent Murder in Altoona.

THE DEAD MAN'S REMAINS TAKEN TO HIS FORMER HOME IN MILESBURG.

The following strictly correct account of the affair in Altoona on the Fourth of July, which resulted in the death of Harrison Shope, formerly of Milesburg, was prepared by Rev. J. Zeigler. The first four paragraphs he took from the Altoona Times of the 6th instant, the remainder being writen by Mr. Zeigler:

A stabbing affray took place on the Fourth at the corner of Seventh street and Sixth avenue, which resulted in the death of Harrison Shope, whose home is at the corner of Fourth avenue and Fourth street. Rocco Pasarella, an Italian, was the man who did the stabbing. The knife used was a large dirk, with a blade about five inches in length.

The physicians who examined the wound supposed it to be a trifling one, but it proved more serious than they had expected. The knife entered the abdomen, making a wound about three-fourths of an inch long, cutting through the flesh and into the intestines.

Pasarella was given a hearing before Recorder Doyle Thursday afternoon, and was bound over in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at Court. In default of bail he was committed to jail to await trial.

Shope was taken to the Hospital Wednesday evening between 5 and 6 o'clock, where he died Thursday afternoon at 5.15, the hearing having been had before his death.

Drs. Ike, Haberacker and several other physicians examined the wound, but owing to its peculiar nature it was impossible to determine the extent of the injury. It was demonstrated, later, that death was caused by hemorrhage of veinous blood from the omentum. This discharge from the veinous circulation was internal, and caused by a deep upward cut of the knife. Under these circumstances, all the medical aid in the world could not have saved the man's life.

The circumstances as near as the truth of the matter can be ascertained, are as follows: It appears that Shope had been drinking and his father and other parties were trying to persuade him to go home. He was on his way down street with several of his comrades, with one of whom he had been wrestling and whom he succeeded in throwing twice, the man bantered him for a third trial and then started to run down street. Shope in following him, came in contact with the above named Italian whom he grabbed by the shoulders and shook; exclaiming as he did so, "I believe you are not the man I want," as he took him for his comrade. It was at this juncture(the Italian evidently not understanding his position) that the stabbing took place. After his death his remains were embalmed by an undertaker and sent to Milesburg, by rail, in charge of John Orr, accompanied by Harry Weist, H. Parsons, Thos. M. Miller, Al. Garrison, John Little and Harry Weaver as pall-bearers, with about 16 of the relatives and friends from Altoona. At Milesburg the remains were rceived by undertaker Proudfoot and conveyed to Marsh Creek, Messiah's Church cemetery, where they were interred by the Christian rite of burial, Rev. J. Zeigler conducting the services—Shope's age was 21 years, 6 months and 25 days.

He was a fine looking, stoutly built young man, for the most part agreeable in company, and admired by many. His father's name is William, a son of Jacob Shope who lives about a mile east of Milesburg, Centre Co. His untimely death is much lamented by his sorely bereaved parents and brothers and sisters. Mr. William Wagner, above Milesburg, did what he could in entertaining the relatives as well as seeing to and making preparations for the funeral. We trust that a profitable impression will be made upon all who may read this sad occurence, who may be building their hopes upon the prospects for long life—since life here is very uncertain.

Yours in sympathy,

—The Lock Haven Daily Democrat criticises our recently expressed wish that the running of Sunday trains, even to carry people to chuch, shall cease,and says it cannot see anything worse in that than for people to go in a pleasure carriage to church on Sunday, and asks if people must remain away from divine service merely because their residence may be remote from it. We are sorry that our esteemed contemporary is unable to see and are not responsible for its present blindness, but will, nevertheless perform our duty in endeavoring to open its eyes to what is apparent to anyone possessed of ordinarily good vision The running of trains on the railroad is never done solely for the benefit of people who desire to go to a certain place, but always with the view of financially profit or worldly pleasure of those who get up the excursion. Thus,it is a money-making or pleasure scheme and the divine law ordains that we are to limit the gaining of livelihood to six days of the week, and says "thou shalt not pursue thy own pleasure on the Lord's day." Now, if we could imagine these excursion trains gotten up without anyone receiving pay for them, each person giving his services freely, and solely for the purpose of spiritual profit, it would be quite justifiable. So far as riding to church is concerned, the owner of what the Democrat pleases to designate as the "pleasure carriage" can get everything in readiness and the drive will be only sufficient to benefit the horses and no one is made to break the spirit of Sabbath observance of doing actual manual work or by profiting financially by the action. The motive which controls in all these actions is what must govern us. This explanation is to enable our contemporary to see what is certainly for its benefit. We believe that if there is a willingness to understand, the Democrat will not continue to grope in darkness any longer.

This renders the foreman or conductor of the construction train a very responsible position.
